The Ocean Harnessed

No Marriage, No Career

NEWS OF THE DAY, that will be important in the history of a thousand years hence, is the decision of voters in Maine approving $100,000,000 expenditure to harness the tides in Passamaquoddy Bay. That power, according to Dexter P. Cooper, able engineer, will give four times the energy that can be developed at Muscle Shoals, namely, 3,268,000,000 kilowat hours per year.

THIS MEANS creating the equivalent of 500,000 horsepower all the year round. The price will be cheap, for a "horsepower" does not have to be fed, watered, bedded down, groomed, shod, doesn't get glanders, or epizootic, does not grow old or die.

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND horsepower that will last, rushing through turbines, as long as ocean tides rise and fall, will make Maine one of the greatest industrial States in the Union, and add tens of billions to the State's wealth.

LET'S HOPE those enterprising corporation gentlemen will wait at least a month or two before getting the project away from the citizens that are going to pay for it.

EVEN MORE exciting than the great Bay of Fundy power project, but less important in our earthly struggle for existence, is the result of Dr. Knut Landmark's studies of the nebulae, strange clusters in the distant heavens, remiading you of frog's eggs floating on a pond.

DR. LANDMARK, a great scientist of Sweden, calculates that some of these nebulae are moving away from us at the rate of 2,000 miles a second, more than 7,000,000 miles an hour.

That's a speed worth talking about: it makes 300 miles an hour by airplane seem contemptible.

YOU HAVE been swimming in the ocean, with jellyfish bumping against you, making you feel that the water was almost made up of jellyfish.

Dr. Landmark says that space around us is a crowded ocean of ether. All space is thickly sown with meteors, the sort that occasionally strike the earth, or melt as they strike our atmosphere, and are called "shooting stars."

For every million cubic miles of space, according to the learned doctor, there are six thousand million meteors and there are 1,000,000 cubic miles of space in every cubic block of ether 100 miles square.

NO MAN CAN conceive the number of meteors that we pass in our annual spiral journey of more than 500,000,000 miles around the sun. Imagine a column 100 miles square, reaching from the earth to the sun. It would contain five quadrillion, 530 trillion rushing meteorites, a sum that may be written out as follows: 5,580,000,000,000,000.

AS TO THE number of meteorites occupying the space between this earth and the sun, in one year's travel, you can figure that out for yourself.

There is in those fragments of broken up old planets plenty of material for manufacturing new ones.

MISS FAY LAMPHIER, young California girl, who "easily and naturally" won the beauty crown of "Miss America," says: "Marriage won't interfere with my career."

Of course not. The real business of human beings on this earth is to make it a little better

DEDHAM MAN VICTIM OF SHOOTING

Coolidge Demands Aircraft Facts

'GO TO THE BOTTOM IN PROBE' PRESIDENT TELLS 'GRAND JURY'

Washington, Sept. 17.—A national "grand jury" assembled at the White House today to conduct an exhaustive investigation into prevailing conditions in national air defence.

Summoned by President Coolidge because of charges by Colonel "Billy" Mitchell that there has been "almost treasonable administration" of the country's air services, members of the jury met with the chief executive and from him personally received instructions to go to the bottom of the ugly situation created by Mitchell's charges.

A free hand and no restrictions were promised the investigators. The President's principal request was that the jury report by the last of November, 10 weks hence, to enable him to report to Congress the following week.

The future governmental policy is

MOTHER, BABY HURT IN PORCH COLLAPSE

A mother and baby daughter were victims of an unusual and unexplained accident today when the porch of their home at No. 141 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, collapsed, carrying them fourteen feet to the ground.

Excitement swept the Andrew square section of Dorchester in the wake of the accident, first reports making it appear far more serious than it really was.

Ambulances were summoned from the Dorchester police stations and the Carney and Boston City Hospitals, as it was rumored that an entire family had been injured.

SWING SAVES BABY.

The victims were Mrs. Lillian Jollimore and Dorothy Jollimore, three years old. A younger child, Margaret Jollimore, who was being rocked in a little rope swing when the porch collapsed, remained suspended, crying piteously for release. She was taken down by Dr. John F. Rooney, a neighbor.

Buried in the debris, but with her elder daughter clasped protectingly to her breast, Mrs. Jollimore was unconscious when taken out.

She was treated by Dr. Rooney, who rescued her. So were her daughters, one suffering from shock and fright, the other bruised a little. The condition of none of the victims is serious.

INSPECTION MADE.

In that part of Dorchester, the incident made a tremendous impression among dwellers in old houses not too securely pinned up. Theodore Eldracher of the Building Commissioner's office visited the house and ordered the back doors nailed up pending repairs. Bernard Schulman of No. 119 Tonawanda street, Dorchester, owns the building.

FREIGHT EMBARGO ON LINES TO FLORIDA

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A temporary embargo on movement of household furniture, building materials and machinery to Florida points was announced today by several railroad and steamship lines. The restriction is to hold until congestion at most traffic centers in Florida has been relieved.

The opening of the Winter movement of tourists, supplementing the still continued abnormal summer traffic, was given as the reason for the embargo. Some express companies also have joined in the action to relieve the congestion.

The Clyde Steamship Line has declared an absolute embargo on iron

NO 'HOME SWEET HOME' FOR THEM

Above photo, reading from left to right, shows Roland, aged 3; Clarence, aged 4; Lawrence, 5 years old, three members of the Rooseveltian family of the Widow Kelly, of Winchester, who has as many troubles as the old woman who lived in a shoe and had so many children she did not know what to do. She has been evicted from her present home and cannot find a landlord willing to rent her a tenement owing to the size of her brood.

G. O. P. IS ALARMED BY CURTIS CANDIDACY

In a handsome home on Beacon Hill the "political wrecker of the century" sits pretty, "atop the world," while leaders of two great parties grovel at her daintily shod feet, and Boston goes politically crazy below. Regardless of the entrance into the political fight of Dan Coakley, Johnny Fitz, or any other powerful figure, the key to the mayor's office reposes on a desk in the library of the house at No. 23 Mt. Vernon street, where lives Frances G. Curtis,

AUTOS CRASH, 5 HURT; WOMAN NEAR DEATH

West Bridgewater, Sept. 17 (AP).—Miss Elizabeth Parshley, No. 329 Summer street, Bridgewater; Carl E. Anderson, No. 118 Leach avenue, Campello, and Walter Ryan, No. 16 East Chestnut street, Campello, occupants of one machine, and Richard Casey, well-known athlete of Bridgewater, and Walter Flynn of Bridgewater; passengers in another machine, were all sent to the Brockton Hospital, following a bad crash on South Main street, near the Bridgewater line.

The Parshley woman is on the danger list. The other four were badly cut and battered. Both machines were wrecked.

Anderson was arrested and pleaded guilty in district court today to a charge of drunken driving. The case was continued to September 24 for disposition.

PROBE DRUG TRAFFIC IN WORCESTER JAIL

Worcester, Sept. 17.—Commissioner of Corrections Sanford Bates and Deputy Commissioner Edward C. R. Bagley are in Worcester today investigating conditions in the county jail.

The investigation resulted from charges of a drug traffic among the inmates, made by a former guard, John J. McPartland.

Although the State officials have only supervisory powers over county institutions, their recommendations carry considerable weight.

Before leaving the State House, Commissioner Bates and his assistant denied that McPartland was known to them, and declared they had no previous knowledge of undesirable conditions at the Worcester jail.

McPartland, who said he left his

DEDHAM CONTRACTOR IS MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT WHILE ON AUTO RIDE

A red, angry groove, seared by a bullet across his abdomen and another wound in one wrist, gave burning testimony today to Richmond Clark, builder, of Dedham, that sometimes the way of the good Samaritan is hard and close to death.

At the same time, Walter Morley of No. 262 Eustis street, Roxbury, and his brother George of the same address, were under arrest, the former charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, and the latter with drunkenness.

The brothers were taken into custody as the result of an incident of the early hours that, according to the police, followed a request by the Moriers that Clark give them a "lift" home, and Clark's consenting.

In Roxbury Court, Walter Morley

CANDIDACY OF MISS CURTIS UPSETS G. O. P. MAYORALTY PLANS

CHANCE OF ELECTING NICHOLS SERIOUSLY IMPAIRED

daughter of a famous family, for 13 years a member of Boston's school committee and the one candidate for mayor of Boston who does not know as yet what the word "defeat" may mean.

VOTE EXCEEDED CURLEY'S.

So-called practical politicians received the first rumors of Miss Curtis' candidacy with loud guffaws. They were living in the past, and saw the possibility of a woman candidate who would actually be a figure no more clearly than 200,000 barrenders saw the possibility of prohibition a few years ago.

When Miss Curtis actually announced herself these Democratic leaders began to investigate more closely, and then, to their amazement, they discovered that this woman, whose friends and associates for the most part are Republican, achieved a bigger vote in Democratic Boston than did Jim Curley himself.

REPUBLICAN CONSTERNATION.

They were amazed, called meetings, ran from one office to another, and the Democratic party was astir.

And was it much ado about nothing?

Did the Democratic leaders, practical politicians though they be, fail to see the real significance of Miss Curtis' candidacy?

The answer can be found by watching the seething activity in the Republican ranks.

Instead of fearing Miss Curtis' candidacy the Democratic leaders of the city would have made no more strategic coup than themselves to inject this efficient woman into the mayoral contest.

She is the one threat before the Republican candidate, Malcolm Nichols.

Alonzo B. Cook and Charles L. Burrill will corral for themselves a scattering Republican vote, but the Republican leaders did not fear these "bad boys of the party," particularly in the light of the dissension in the Democratic ranks.

But Miss Curtis' advent is something else again. She threatens to cut into the Nichols vote with a double-edged axe. She threatens to wreck the carefully laid plans of the G. O. P. machine.

As witness the path worn to her doorsteps by Republican leaders who come to cajole, to plead, to threaten, to implore. They are so anxious to have her out of the fight that no more than possible she will receive word of some sort on the subject in a few days.

The Republican leaders had set-

SEEKING TO SETTLE MAYORALTY MIXUP

Robert E. Bigney (left) and Representative Patrick J. Sullivan of Ward 8, two of the Democrats who today resumed their efforts to unscramble the Democratic mayoralty muddle. All attempts to settle who was who failed at the American House Democratic meeting and before 24 more hours have passed threatens to become more mixed by the entry of still more candidates.

important passage at Washington tled back with their hands content edly folded on their laps, confident that all was over, that the Democrats would fight each other to the death, and that a Republican would rule Democratic Boston.

And then came the Curtis bombshell and bedlum.

Senator Gaspar G. Bacon had been disposed of. Eliot Wadsworth had been gently nozed out of the running. There were left only Cook and Burrill, known malcontents, who can not be expected to poll a heavy Republican vote.

Mal Nichols had the very spot selected in the mayor's office where he would place Charlie Innes' photograph.

And then Miss Curtis gummed the works—if that is not too undignified an expression to use about a lady—and gummed the works proper.

HAS PLENTY OF BACKGROUND.

The Democratic City Committee called a hasty meeting as soon as the Curtis boom was launched, in the desperate effort to secure a compromise candidate. This resulted only in proving what little chance there is for compromise between such fighting men as Keliher and Glynn, O'Brien and W. T. A. Fitzgerald, Logan and Dunn, John F. Fitzgerald and Coakley.

Upon Beacon Hill Miss Curtis appears to be wholly unconscious of the turmoil that is raging about her, though she is too acute politically not to realize it. And she has had a deal of political experience.

With plenty of background, historical and social, and an apprenticeship of fifteen years on the State Board of Charities and thirteen more on the School Committee she the only woman candidate expressed the belief that "Boston needs a woman mayor as do politics in general need women."

PROBLEMS GALORE.

At her home she declined to make known at this time the particular city ailments she intends to remedy, but there are problems galore which need the attention of a qualified expert. Miss Curtis did not hesitate to mention.

"Mine is not a campaign of woman to woman. It is strictly unemotional, but an appeal to the rational nature of the public in general. All the talk about women wanting women to represent them has finally culminated in my announcement of candidacy. If women want a woman now's the time and the axe must swing.

"This isn't a woman's world. It is for men and women both, and that position which the woman can do better than a man should be given her. I have always preached the doctrine of equal rights for equal capabilities. I shall not appeal to the women in any emotional demonstration.

ABILITY, NOT SEX.

"By virtue of my background, of my ability and particular knowledge of the city as I have, should give me the fight. My career in politics will end with the mayoralty. It is only my love for the city of Boston, matured by generations of ancestors, that goads me on. I know Boston. I know what it needs. When the time comes I shall make public just what attention it does need.

"I shall appeal to men and women alike, stressing my ability and not my sex. It is a shame that the country should, on the whole be so conservative when it comes to women entering politics. In England women have been mayors for years. NEED MORE WOMEN.

"The West seems to be more progressive than the East. We need more women in the field. It is open and those who have the qualities should enter it.

"What distresses me, is the fact that I haven't even the name of a single woman running for City Council. That office would be the logical place for a woman desiring a political career. The City Council is the housekeeping department of the city. Women are born housekeepers. That job is logically theirs."

wards military and naval aviation as well as towards the development of commercial aviation may be said to hinge to some extent upon the findings of the jury in its investigation and examination of witnesses during the next two months.

It was expected when the members of the President's commission gathered today that Dwight W. Morrow of Englewood, N. J., banker, lawyer and former army officer, would be elected to the chairmanship of the commission.

Morrow was a classmate of the President at Amherst and has been one of his trusted unofficial advisers.

Other members of the commission are Major-General James Harbord, former chief of staff of the army; Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, U. S. N., retired; Howard E. Durand of Los Angeles, aeronautical engineer, and two members of Congress, Representative Carl Vinson, Democrat, of Georgia, and James B. Parker, Republican, of New York.

Mitchell to Be Witness Before Naval Board

Washington, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Colonel William Mitchell, stormy petrel of the air controversy, probably will be a chief witness before the naval court that is to inquire into the wrecking of the naval airship Shenandoah.

It will be the purpose to ask him to substantiate his published charge that the accident was a direct result of "the incompetency, criminal negligence an dalmost treasonable administration of the national defense by the Navy and War Departments."

An investigation looking to a possible court martial of the former assistant chief of the Army Air Service is now being conducted by the War Department, but officials have made it clear that this inquiry will not interfere with the calling of Mitchell as a witness either before the Shenandoah inquiry or the President's special aircraft board.

BIRTHDAY TODAY FOR FATHER CUMMINS

The Rev. Father John F. Cummins, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, will be honored on this, his 73rd birthday, by his classmates of the Boston College class of '72, together with a group of prominent priests and laymen who have been close to him during the 25 years as a clergyman in the Metropolitan Hill parish.

The reunion today will be a quiet celebration, for a real festival is being planned for December 13, when the popular pastor will observe his golden jubilee. It was a half century ago that Father Cummins celebrated his first mass in Roslindale. At that time a tent covered his altar. Later he was assigned to the Sacred Heart Church, and in 28 years he has developed it into one of the most prominent parishes in the archdiocese.

LAUNCH LEXINGTON AT QUINCY OCT. 3

It was announced that the big airplane carrier, Lexington, will be launched from the Fore River yards on Saturday, October 3, at 11 o'clock in the morning. This will give the 15,000 ton boat the advantage of the full moon tide.

For several weeks steam dredges have been working day and night hollowing out the bed of the river opposite the launching ways.

A feature never tried out before here is the installation of a signal system, by which one man at the head observation post is kept in touch with the progress of every part of the ways while the shore timbers are being removed just before the boat is allowed to slide down the ways.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES IN NEWTON

George Smith Richards, Civil War veteran, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Ohnemus, No. 12 Irvington street, in the Waban section of Newton. He leaves a widow, a daughter, three grandchildren, one great-grandchild. He was a native of Charlestown, and resided for many years in Waltham.

Last year Richards left the employ of the Hastings Organ Factory at Waltham, after being sixty-seven years in its employ. Richards was a member of the First Massachusetts Cavalry.

while they are here, and hand on what ability they have to future generations, that they also may work.

GOOD QUALITIES, as heredity proves, are handed on by women. And the woman whose program does not include marriage can't possibly have a complete career, no matter what the feminists may say. In a chain, the link that breaks is not the successful link.

CHARLES VAIL owned a humble residence, an old furniture van, turned into a dwelling, and Vail was a squatter on the land beneath his van.

But it was Vail's home, his piece of the earth. When the van burned at New Brunswick, N. J., Vail cut his throat, and died.

This tragedy contains information for single taxers and others that oppose individual ownership of ground. It does seem absurd that a man should say: "I own it," of earth created a hundred million years before he was born.

But owning land makes men fight, as the French did at Verdun, and taking it from them, makes them kill themselves. You can't conquer that with a theory.

TURKS ARE driving Christians out of Mosul, and Britons complain bitterly to the League of Nations. Talk of war, however, is premature. Much time must pass, or serious danger threaten the British Islands, before Britons will allow themselves to be conscripted again.

THE TURKS naturally ask: "If Germans can drive Christian Poles out of German territory, and if the Poles can drive Christian Germans out of Polish territory, sending women and children wandering along the roads, why cannot we, good sons of Mohammed, drive out the Christians also? What is sauce for the Christian ought to be sauce for the Mohammedan."

SECRETARY MELLON knew his subject when he said it would be possible to cut excess income tax and still get necessary revenues for the government.

An income tax cut of 25 per cent. causes a drop of only 4 per cent. in total income tax collected. In this country, at least, while you can put money into it you can't COLLECT them.

DEDHAM MAN SHOT BY AUTO 'GUEST'

was held in $5,000 for a hearing on Sept. 25, while George was fined $15 for drunkenness. George appealed.

According to the story told by Clark and the police, the Dedham man, with a fellow builder, Richard A. Hart of No. 1468 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, was riding in a small sedan early today when he was hailed in West Roxbury by the Morley brothers.

One of the brothers, George, was drunk, Clark said, but Walter was sober. Walter asked Clark if he would take them home to Eustis street.

drove them to the designated place, where Walter clambered out again.

But the brother George grew recalcitrant, according to Clark's story, and refused to leave the machine. Thinking to aid the sober brother in starting George homeward, Clark endeavored to aid him out of the car.

At that, according to the Dedham man's assertions, Walter Morley drew a revolver and fired two shots, one slug ripping sideways through his clothing, searing a great ugly gash across his abdomen and the other bullet nicking his wrist.

Clark was taken to the City Hospital by nearby residents who heard the shots and his wounds were treated. Then he reported the incident to the police and went home.

The Morley brothers were arrested later.

KNICKER THUGS STEAL GEMS

A concentrated drive by the police of a half dozen cities is under way to capture a band of thugs which has been operating along the North Shore boulevard.

All through the early hours today motorist victims sought the aid of the police of Lynn, Revere, Chelsea, Malden, Melrose and Everett. The thugs are said to be five in number and are described as wearing knickers and yellow slickers.

Three persons reported they were forced at gun point to hand over their valuables to the robbers after their autos had been stopped. A score more reported the gang had attempted to force them to stop.

The latest victim is Maynard Moylan of Beacon street, Revere. He was driving along the North Shore boulevard when five men in an auto drove in front of him, forcing him to stop. The man jumped from their machine and while three held him at bay with guns the other two searched his pockets, stealing $18 and a gold watch.

Daniel H. Callahan, No. 80 Norwood street, Everett, and John Bunker, No. 16 Springdale avenue, Saugus, two victims robbed by the gang confronted a suspect, but declared he was one of the gang.

Notwithstanding lack of identification the suspect has been held.

Callahan was held up on the Revere and Everett line, the robbery having occurred within the jurisdiction of the Revere police. He had reached a lonely spot near the Jewish cemetery on Washington street and had parked his auto when a touring car drew up beside his machine.

Five young men, all of them having the appearance of foreigners and wearing caps and three of them wearing yellow slickers, at the point of revolvers, robbed him of a diamond ring valued at $250, a gold watch worth $40 and a gold ring worth $10.

Inside half an hour after John Bunker of Saugus notified the police of that town that he had also been held up and robbed by a gang of men answering the same description of the ones who had despoiled Callahan.

During the night police in Melrose, Everett and Malden were called up at numerous times by automobilists who reported attempts had been made to stop cars along the Newburyport turnpike by five men who appeared in the middle of the highway and signalled the car drivers to stop.

BATES PROBES JAIL DRUG TRAFFIC

job at the jail because of "filthy" conditions, also declared he visited the Department of Corrections five times and made complaints.

Both officials said the Department of Corrections had no record of complaints against the Summer street jail, but in view of the newspaper reports decided to look it over.

This is the latest angle in the Worcester drug probe which daily has provided sensational gains. Local police and Federal agents continue their investigations into the alleged drug ring which produced scores of victims, including boys and girls of high school ages.

The charges of McPartland, who lives at No. 149 Mayfield street have greatly increased the interest in the drug crusade.

McPartland told the Boston Evening American that he left his job in the jail last month because the conditions there "made him sick" and drove him to report them to Sanford Bates, State commissioner of correction in the State House at Boston.

"In the Summer street jail," asserted McPartland, "I saw a deputy sheriff dissolve and push a morphine pellet left in a cell by a dope addict." The deputy sheriff stated he took the "shot" to cure a bad cold.

REPORTED TO BATES.

These charges concerning the drug traffic in the Summer street jail have dealt a further shock to the residents of this city in the revelations already made public by the police in their efforts to clean up the drug traffic.

The menacing drug situation in the local jail was brought to the attention of Worcester police by McPartland a few weeks ago, and they advised him to file his charges with the State commissioner of correction in Boston.

Sheriff Albert F. Richardson, keeper of the Summer street jail, told the Boston Evening American that McPartland was discharged with conditions in that institution and left his job admittedly disgusted.

The sheriff at his home in Shrewsbury stated that he was not aware of any traffic among the inmates of the jail and their companions outside.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO ACT.

Questioned concerning the reason why McPartland resigned the sheriff stated that he knew of disturbing circumstances involving inmates and officials may have led to McPartland's resignation.

This Worcester jail scandal, coupled with the arrest of two prominent physicians in the city has forced District Attorney Emerson W. Bixley to take action in the drug scandal.

"I will conduct a rigid investigation," declared the district-attorney, "and will co-operate in every way with the efforts of Sergeant Joseph P. Murphy of the local vice squad, to wipe out this intolerable drug menace."

Ex-Guard McPartland has instructed a local state representative to sponsor a bill before the House in the next session of the Massachusetts legislature, urging that the Worcester county jail be taken over by state administrators.

McPartland declares that disciplines is lax in the Summer street jail. He alleged that officers of that institution took advantage of the confinement of prisoners to force their attentions on the inmates' women friends.

LARGE ENROLLMENT AT CONSERVATORY SEEN

Several hundred pupils resumed or began their studies today at the New England Conservatory of Music. Registration, which will continue for the next four or five weeks, is expected to result in an enrollment that will exceed last year's 2,400.

Opening exercises were held at noon in Jordan Hall, Huntington avenue and Gainsborough street, when short addresses of welcome were made by G. W. Chadwick, director, Wallace Goodrich, dean, and Ralph L. Flanders, manager.

MAN DIES 6 DAYS AFTER FIGHT; ANTAGONIST HELD

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Jean Charles Bouchard pleaded not guilty in municipal court today to a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Urbal Lefebvre. He was arrested after Lefebvre's body had been found in a shack and examination showed death due to skull fracture. Police were told the two had engaged in a fight six days ago.

SPRINGFIELD BREWING SELLS FOR $118,000

Springfield, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The sale today for $118,000 of the main plant of the Springfield Breweries Company marked one of the final steps in the passing of an industry famous in Western New England in pre-prohibition days. A local syndicate took the property for investment. The company formerly operated four plants here and in Chicopee.

Chicago Hotel Robbers Are Unmoved When Sentenced to Die on Gallows

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Joseph Holmes and Jack Woods, two of five thugs who a few weeks ago invaded the fashionable Drake Hotel and staged a pistol battle in an attempted holdup, were convicted early today by a jury of the murder of Frank B. Rodkey, hotel cashier and given the death penalty.

Neither of the condemned men showed emotion on the reading of the sentence. As they were led from the courtroom, one remarked to the other, "Well, we got the rope," to which his partner listlessly responded, "Yes."

Mrs. Frank Rodkey, widow of their victim, commenting on the verdict, said:

"I was entitled to the verdict. They took my man, the best in the world."

WILD STEER HUNTER KILLS ESCAPED BULL

Springfield, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Henry A. Streeter, of Bernardston, a professional wild steer hunter, with his trained dog, today put an end to a search that has continued for several days for a bull that escaped from a shipment to a local provision concern and has roamed a 300-acre wood and brush covered tract in the north end of the city. Streeter shot the bull on the run, killing it instantly.

LIBEL FIGHT FILED BY MASTER

Vessel Taken by Coast Guard in Boston Harbor Stopped on Way to Portland

The palatial gasoline yacht Conejo, which was tied up at the Lawley Yards in Neponset, has been seized by Coast Guards at the instance of Federal officers in Maine, who allege she figured in a rum running exploit near Portland, it was learned today.

Costing $125,000 when she was built three years ago, the Conejo is the richest prize confiscated by Federal agents for an alleged infraction of the customs laws.

MASTER GETS LIBEL.

The Conejo was seized Tuesday by United States District Attorney Dyer of the aMine District. She was on the way to Portland when Lyman Aleander Bush, the master, struck back at the government and regained temporary possession through a possessory libel, an old Admiralty process based on the theory that he was being illegally deprived of his property.

She was tied up at the Army Base pier today and early next week there will be hearings, when Mr. Dyer of Portland will seek to regain possession and have Coast Guards sail her to some port in his jurisdiction.

MAY SEEK INDICTEMENT

Ownership of the Conejo is vested with much mystery. In Lloyd's Shipping Register a New York man is listed as the owner.

"Never heard of him," said Mr. Dyer. "His name does not appear on the title papers. But I won't tell you now who does."

From other sources it was learned he intends to seek an indictment of the owner.

Miss Mary McSkimmon, principal of the Pierce chool, Brookline, recently elected president of the National Educational Association, has been granted leave of absence without loss of pay for such time during the school year as in her opinion, the duties of her new office require. This was given by the school committee. Miss Ada Chevalier has been made acting principal.

HAD RIPPED SAFE FROM GAS STATION WALL

Three armed thugs, surprised while attempting to open a safe in the Colonial filling station at Foster and Washington streets, Quincy, escaped early today in a running gun fight with Patrolman Thomas F. McNally of the Quincy police.

Patrolman McNally was patrolling his beat when he noticed an auto parked in the darkness near the gas station, which is just off of Quincy square. Investigating, he saw the beam of an electric light in the gas station.

He approached the rear door of the gas station with revolver drawn, but at his approach three men leaped from a front window and ran toward the auto.

The patrolman gave chase, firing several shots at the fugitives. One of the trio returned the fire but the three reached the machine and sped away in the direction of Boston. The patrolman fired several ineffective shots at the speeding auto.

Patrolman McNally was unable to get an accurate description of the men other than that they were apparently young and dressed in dark clothes.

The gas station safe was found ripped from the wall and the door pried off with a crow bar. The bar and a big maul were left by the safe-breakers in their flight. No money was taken.

The safe was removed to Quincy police headquarters.

LIGHT COMPANY PLANTS SEEK TO CONSOLIDATE

The Haverhill Electric Company and the Newburyport Gas & Electric Company today filed a petition for consolidation. The Newburyport company wants to issue 4,275 additional shares of capital stock with a par value of $25. This stock would be sold at $30, bringing in $128,250 to be used to pay outstanding obligations. The new issue would make the total capitalization of the Newburyport plant $961,875. The Haverhill company proposed to issue 38,475 additional shares at a par value of $25, amounting to $961,875. By the proposed merger all assets and liabilities would be transferred to the Haverhill company.

'DRY' SENATOR RESISTED COP, IS CHARGE

Oregon Prosecutor Says That Stanfield May Face Other Counts in Court, Too

Baker, Ore., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Senator Robert N. Stanfield will face charges of resisting an officer if he appears in police court here tomorrow in connection with his arrest at a local cafe Sunday, City Attorney Frank McCulloch said.

"After two days spent in investigating the facts I have definitely determined to file a charge against Senator Stanfield of resisting an officer," McCulloch declared. "Further investigation may result in additional charges being filed, but that will probably not be determined until tomorrow."

Boston Clubman in Oyster Bay Races

Richard De B. Boardman Holds Tiller of H. F. Whiton's Lanai

Betty Alden

RICHARD DeBLOIS BOARDMAN, popular Boston clubman and famed sailor of small boats, is at Oyster Bay, carrying local colors in the International six-metre races. He holds the tiller of the "Lanai," owned by Henry F. Whiton of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club, and everyone hereabouts concedes that "Dicky" Boardman is the happiest of selections for the all-important duty.

THE FOREIGN six-metre sailors, redoubtable tars from their Scandinavian countries where steamships is the forte of every boy and man are over to wrest honors from the Oyster Bay club and carry off the trophy. This is the fifth series, and Mr. Boardman enters with a long string of victories to his credit, stretching back to Sonder class races at Kiel, Germany.

MR. BOARDMAN, member of a dozen or more exclusive clubs—Somerset, Tennis and Racquet, Myopia Hunt—flies the Eastern Yacht Club's red and blue pennant from a trio of yachts, the "Grebe," the "Goose" and the "Firefly." Surely the name of "Dicky" Boardman is one to conjure with in amateur sailing circles.

MOTORING THROUGH France and Italy is the jolly program of Miss Berthe and Miss Francesca Braggiotti. Their cousin, Barthold Schlesinger, is motoring them from Via Regzio, their Italian home, through France to Paris. In Paris all three will visit their relative, Madame Berthe Marol, before crossing to England for a week and embarking for home late in September, via the steamship France.

THEIR YOUNGER SISTER, Gloria Braggiotti, is in Saranac Lake with Isadora Braggiotti, father of the always interesting "Braggiotto girls." They are guests of Maria Braggiotti, who seeks renewed health in Saranac's sparkling atmosphere. Gloria Braggiotti has recently been in Ogunquit, Me., the guest of Miss Mary Crandon.

VERSATILE MRS. NATHANIEL F. EMMONS of Hingham is making a long stay at Falmouth, on Cape Cod, as chatelaine in the Summer establishment of her father-in-law, Nathaniel Henry Emmons. Later Mrs. Emmons goes to Groton for a series of country house visits. True to her prediction, she hovers near the political flame now beginning to flare hereabout, quietly and effectively campaigning for her chosen candidate.

BOSTON INTEREST in that charming young matron, Mrs. Frederic Cameron Church, Jr., the former Muriel Vanderbilt, grows in depth as the time approaches when the Church lares and penates are set up in their Esplanade establishment. Meanwhile Mrs. Church gave for her first hospitality as a bride, earlier in the week, a luncheon at Beachmound, the Newport villa of Mrs. William Kissam Vanderbilt, 3d.

MRS. VANDERBILT, mother of Mrs. Church and Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, fiancee of Earl Smith, is back in Newport from the Saratoga racing season. Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt has not, as yet, named the day when she will become Mrs. Smith, but whenever and wherever the ceremonial, it's sure to be of surpassing importance.

SCHOOL WAR ON IN BROOKLINE

The Brookline Parent-Teacher Association has not given up its war against the school board of the richest town as was made evident by the newest move of the organization.

They now seek in a petition to Secretary of State Cook to be incorporated as the Brookline Public School Association.

That the purpose of the new corporation is to continue the fight on the school board is evidenced by the wording of the petition. It gives as the reason for the proposed incorporation "the promoting of interests and civic rights of the pupils and their parents through representation of them in the membership of the school committee."

Those who were most active in the fight against the school board at the last election are named as officers of the new corporation.

They include—Arthur J. Skinners, president; William G. Hawley, vice-president; Mary E. Cooney, recording secretary; Mabelle Gray, corresponding secretary; James E. O'Neill, treasurer.

TAX SUITS FOR NEARLY HALF A MILLION

Five Collectors Are Involved in Actions Brought by Atty. Gen. Benton

Tax collectors in Middlesex county have drawn upon their heads the fire of Attorney-General Jay R. Benton, who charges five of them with being negligent in collecting taxes, or dilatory in handing over the funds collected to the town or city government.

The suits brought by the attorney general aggregate nearly half a million dollars.

City Collector Henry F. Lehan of Cambridge heads the list, as he is charged with neglect to collect taxes amounting to $360,000.

Collector James Bagley of Bedford is sued for $3,000; Collector Slemon G. Fuller of Stoneham, for $10,000; Horace A. Phipps, collector of Hopkinton, $7,000; and Collector Arthur W. Colburn of Dracut, $10,000.

BROCKTON FAIR HORSE SHOW TO BE EPIC

Cream of Country's Stock in Every Variety Will Draw Thousands

Horse lovers all over the East are preparing to make pilgrimage to the Brockton Fair, New England's chief example of the old-time county fair, for the horse show this year is to be one of the high lights of the fair.

The big doings start at Brockton September 29 and continue through October 3. More than 500 of the best horses in the land, including show horses, jumpers, and every possible variety, are already entered.

From Chicago comes Captain Dirk Van Ingens with a wonderful stable of jumpers, Gray Parson being the outstanding leaper.

One of the new classes this year is the polo pony class in eight divisions. All of the contestants must be in strict polo attire, and the horses will engage in a 200-yard race and a half-mile relay. The riders will change horse three times in the half-mile, a stunt reminiscent of the famed pony express of frontier days.

Hand Shaking Is Taboo Under Fascist Rule

Rome, Sept. 17. (A.P.)—Fascism not only is changing the laws of the Italian nation but the customs of the people. Hand-shaking is becoming tabo. As a substitute the Fascist salute—right arm extended upward—is given.

In the offices of some of the sirman-pure Fascist companies here are signs reading "no hand-shaking permitted."

Mr. Leeds is a graduate of English High School and attended Tufts College.

FIVE KIN SHARE IN BROOKLINE WOMAN'S WILL

$80,000 Estate of Anna Humphreys Is Divided Among Nephews and Nieces

The $80,000 personal estate of Miss Anna Humphreys of Brookline, who died August 13, will be distributed between five nephews and nieces, under the provisions of a will allowed by Judge McCoole in Norfolk Probate Court, Dedham.

The sum of $10,000, however, will be held in trust for the benefit of Mrs. Frances W. Humphreys, widow of James H. Humphreys, brother of the testatrix, during her lifetime.

The heirs who will benefit are Emma L. Twitchell, Melrose; Sarah H. Corey, Chicago, and Catherine N. Barry, Pittsburgh, nieces, with Walter Humphreys, Brookline, and C. Blake Humphreys, Brookline, nephews. Charles L. Carr of Boston is named as executor and trustee and furnished bond of $85,000.

ROOSEVELTS QUIT CHASING OVIS POLI

Nay, 'Tis No Singer, but a Mountain Sheep Wool Too Poor at Present

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Search for the ovis poli, the Marco Polo sheep, which is the objective of the James Simpson-Roosevelt Central Asiatic expedition, has been temporarily abandoned, Kermit Roosevelt, who with his brother, Colonel Theodore, is leading the expedition, has written the Field Museum here.

The animal's changing wool is in poor condition at this time of the year. So the party, having safely passed across the Himalayas after a hard trip, reaching an altitude of 18,700 feet, will go first into the Thian Shan Mountains and return from there to the Pamirs, haunt of the rare animal.

Three burrhel, a wild "blue" sheep of the high Tibetan plains, three Tibetan antelope and numerous small mammals and birds have been bagged by the party, said letters from Kermit to James Simpson, patron of the expedition, and Stanley Field, president of the Field Museum.

OUTSIDE FORCE CONTROLS LOCAL PHONE POLICIES

"HIGHWAY ROBBERY"

That is what the housewives of Greater Boston and the State call the new schedule of increased rates granted the telephone company. Fight the injustice and rebuke the Public Utilities Commission by signing this petition and thus register your personal protest.

TELEPHONE PETITION

TO GOVERNOR FULLER:

We, the undersigned, subscribers of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, voice our protest against the increase of rates for telephone service as granted by the Public Utilities Commission of Massachusetts, and petition that the former schedule of rates be restored immediately.

NAME ADDRESS

NOTE—Paste this petition at top of long sheet of paper and obtain as many signatures as possible. Kindly see that names and addresses are written clearly and on one side of paper only. Send petitions to Boston Evening American, Winthrop Square, Boston, and they will be forwarded to Housekeepers' Club of Massachusetts.

When the American Telephone & Telegraph Company refused to submit its books at the rate hearing before the Massachusetts Public Utilities Commission in the face of repeated requests, many subscribers may not have appreciated the significance of its arrogance. This was not surprising in view of the fact that the rank and file of citizens know little if anything about the interlocking nature and the hidden politics of the telephone business.

But that book episode was sufficiently vital to have halted the hearing on the spot and to have warranted peremptory refusal on the part of the Massachusetts commission to grant a single dollar in increased rates until the books were produced.

The American Company, although a foreign corporation, in that it was incorporated outside of Massachusetts, should be made answerable to the laws and demands of this Commonwealth as it is the directing influence of it local child, the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Whatever the New England company does is in response to instructions by the parent corporation and the New England Company is not a domestic corporation itself, having been incorporated elsewhere.

Hence the people of Massachusetts pay tribute to telephone corporations which in large measure are beyond their control. The Public Utilities Commission has jurisdiction over the New England Company only and that jurisdiction is decidedly limp and limited, as the recent rate grab showed.

The Bell system is made up of a number of associated companies. Vice-President W. S. Gifford of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company is authority for the statement that it might be called "one institution and one company."

Owing to State laws and diversified local conditions throughout the country, the business is carried on through corporate organization representing the parent telephone company, which is the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, a number of associated companies which do the telephone operating in the different sections of the country, and the Western Electric Company which manufactures telephone equipment and is the supply department of the entire system.

25 ASSOCIATED COMPANIES.

There are twenty-five associated companies and these are divided into sixteen operating groups. The American Telephone & Telegraph Company is a stockholder in all of the twenty-five companies and owns directly or indirectly all the common stock of fourteen companies, the majority in nine companies and a minority in two companies, the Southern New England Company and the Cincinnati & Suburban Telephone Company.

In some of these companies the American Company owns directly 100 per cent. of all common stock, and, as the other securities out standing have no voting power, the parent company has 100 per cent. direct control.

Therefore, it can and does dictate the make-up of boards of directors, and executive committees, which direct the policies of the companies as to annual budgets, approval or disapproval of increases in salaries transfer of operating officials from one company to another, etc.

OVER A BILLION.

When you pay your first bill under the new $8,540,000 rate grab so generously awarded by our Public Utilities Commission, just bear in mind that you are helping out the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, a poor, struggling corporation that is staggering under assets worth $1,400,000,000.

Of this, $200,000,000 is invested in long line telephone. The balance of the $1,400,000,000 is invested in stocks and securities of subsidiaries. Nobody hereabout seems to know how much the securities are worth. The American Company owns 58 per cent of the New England Company's stock.

"What we were very much concerned in at the rate hearing," said Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan, who waged the fight for Boston and other remonstrating communities, "was what the New England Company should get from the people of Massachusetts for interstate business. They set aside all its interstate business and all business assigned by the American Company.

"The principal which governs it is this: in determining rates for one class of service you must also know what use of the same plant is made in giving all other classes of service.

"We urge upon the Public Utilities Commission the necessity for determining what the American Company in its long line service was taking out of this plant and what it was costing the New England Company to give the local service to the American Company."

Phone Company Earned $4,164,806 Last Year

For the year 1924 the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. actually earned, for its stockholders, $4,164,806, though it paid income tax on only $3,458,437.

The income tax was paid on the basis of money actually earned by the company, and didn't include any money which reverted to the company as a result of dividends on stock it owns or through interest charged construction, which is a revenue account. The only report required as regards those items is furnished the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the annual report of Assistant Treasurer Weston, net income shown in the report of the directors to the stockholders was set at $3,722,303, and it was estimated that the Federal income tax would be $432,908. In reality the Federal tax was actually $432,904 at the rate of 12½ of the amount upon which the tax was computed, and this, multiplied by eight, showed the earnings to be $3,458,437. Added to this was the interest on construction work funds, stock dividends and amortization of debt discount, which brought the total net earnings up to $4,164,806.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTAGES AT SALISBURY BEACH

Salisbury, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Fire which for a time threatened a thickly settled district on Salisbury Beach early today was controlled after it had destroyed two cottages owned by Mike Mello and Roger Duy, both of Lawrence. Help was sent from Newburyport. The loss was placed at $7,000.

GETS YEAR FOR THEFT FROM JEWELRY FIRM

Alfred Doppleworth, of Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, was given a year in the House of Correction today by Judge Sullivan after pleading guilty to larceny of $450 worth of diamonds and jewelry from the J. S. Rounds Co., Boston. Doppleworth was employed by the firm several months and then disappeared. Testimony showed he had made restitution in most of the loss.

HERE IS THE KIND OF LETTER WHICH IS WANTED IN AMERICAN'S '2-CENT' AUTO CONTEST

"When I enter the newsshop, I put my money down and take up the Boston Evening American just as instinctively as I put my hand in the left-hand pocket of my vest for my watch.

"There is surely some psychology to this, and it is not hard to understand the reason.

"The Boston Evening American, with the illuminating and philosophical articles of its brilliant editor, with the irresistible fun of its cartoons, and, above all, with the clean tone that pervades its every page, is a journal that any father may safely bring into the family.

"This is my answer to 'Why I Like the Boston Evening American.'"

The above letter, written by one of the foremost musicians of New England, graduate of a great university across the water and for many years the director of a cathedral choir, is offered for the study of those of our readers who desire an opportunity to buy a high-grade automobile for 2 cents.

The Boston Evening American has three such cars, which are to be sold at 2 cents apiece to the writers of the most helpful letters on "Why I Like the Boston Evening American."

AS A SPECIMEN LETTER.

This letter is not printed because it is one of the prize-winners, or because it is NOT one of the prize-winners. The Editor has not yet decided upon the make-up of his editorial Board of Judges.

It is printed merely in order that possible contestants, those who as yet have not prepared their letters, may see a specimen contest letter, written by a person of education.

What is your opinion of the professor's letter?

Would you call it a "helpful" letter?

In what way could it guide or help the Editor, in his effort to increase the sale of this newspaper from more than 250,000 copies to more than 300,000 copies, per day?

Think it over. Remember that the call is for "helpful" letters. Write what you think would be such a letter.

We have three automobiles, a Packard sedan worth $2,344, a Buick sedan valued at $1,705.50 and a fully equipped Essex coach, $912.90

These cars are to be sold for 2 cents each!

YOUR MOST HELPFUL

In order to get the opportunity to take your choice of these cars, for the ridiculous price of 2 cents, you must write the MOST HELPFUL letter of all that are received, on the interesting subject, "WHY I Like the Boston Evening American."

Second choice of cars goes to the writer of the letter considered next best.

Third car will become the property of the writer of the letter adjudged Third in Merit.

Each winning letter writer will have to pay 2 cents, before he drives off in his new car. No one else will be asked for even a penny!

How can you lose in this contest? There is no entrance fee. Nobody pays a button except the three winners, and they pay 2 cents apiece, for three automobiles of the latest models.

Write YOUR letter today! Do not let this opportunity get away from you. No one connected in any way with the Boston Evening American, or with any other Hearst publication or enterprise, will be permitted to take part, they nor the members of their families.

MAY BE ANYONE.

The winner of first choice of the three cars may be a school teacher, a bellboy, a policeman, a salesgirl, the mayor of Blankville, a motorman, a chorus girl, anyone. The contest is wide open to all!

Write on one side of the paper, only. Tell it in 250 words, or less. Write your own name and address in the upper left-hand corner of your first page. Send your letter to "Mr. Packard Buick Essex," in care of the Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop Square, Boston Mass.

If you've got a thought, an idea, or a suggestion which you feel certain would be of help to the editor of your favorite evening newspaper, and which can be set forth under the caption, "Why I Like the Boston Evening American," you should not miss this chance to pick up a new automobile for "almost nothing."

DON'T PUT IT OFF.

There is an end to everything, even a contest like this. Stop "putting it off." Write today! Be fair to your friends and your family. When you've got an opportunity to pick up a Packard, a Buick or an Essex, for only two cents, you should not let it slip without at least making an effort.

Some of our friends may have a notion that these are "toy" cars, like the baby flivvers on sale at the railroad station. Not so. They are a Packard a Buick and an Essex, just like the Packards, Buicks and Essexes you see every day on the highway. Nor are they "used" cars. Except for the distances they have traveled about Boston, on our exhibition trucks—and then as "passengers"—not one of them has been driven a furlong!

The offer still is open, but there is no telling when the time limit will be announced.

Step on it!

1 Packard sedan, value, $2,344.00.

1 Buick sedan; selling price, $1,705.50.

1 Essex coach, the market price of which is $912.90.

For sale, by the Boston Evening American.

For——5——cents——each!

Who will buy them?

$5,000,000 Needed for Repairs on Parliament

London, Sept. 17.—The House of Commons this Winter will be faced with the necessity of appropriating approximately $5,000,000 to effect repairs on the Palace of Westminster, where both Houses of Parliament hold their sittings.

Structurally, the building is in no danger. Atmospheric action on the stone work of the building, however, has caused some of the exterior surfaces to crumble away. Thirty-five tons of stone have been removed by hand picking from the walls and ledges of the roofs during the last few years as a precautionary measure.

NO HOME FOR WIDOW AND 9 CHILDREN

her out, but the American Legion have stepped in and gained her possession of her tenement until she can find another.

Mrs. Kelly has scoured Winchester, Woburn, Wilmington, Melrose, Arlington and a dozen other suburbs, she says, without finding a landlord who will take her and her nine children in.

She is willing to pay forty dollars a month rent, but the very mention of children—and especially nine of them from three to thirteen—is too much for the house owners.

"I have not given up hope yet," says Mrs. Kelly, "I'm a good fighter and used to looking after myself. But if I don't find some place soon, I'll call quits and then some one will have to find a place for the children."

While Mrs. Kelly hunts a home, Lester, thirteen years old, the head of the family now that his father is dead, stays at home and takes care of the two babies who are too young to go to school, does the housework and gets lunch for the six small Kellys at school.

Lester, who is a red-headed, freckle-faced boy, says he would rather keep house than go to school, anyway, and any day.

However, as soon as they find a home, he will wash behind his ears—instead of his baby brother's—and go back to school.

"The State," says Mrs. Kelly, "ought to look out for its people. Why shouldn't the government find us a home? Why, I have an eight hour a day job keeping my children clean and fed. They have always been healthy, because I have brought them up in the country. I won't move into the city, and I can't find a house in any suburb to move into. I hope someone will help me to find a home soon."

JEWELRY STORE CLERK ARRESTED AS ROBBER

Winfred L. Bottlewell, forty, of No. 995 Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, a clerk at the jewelry firm of John J. Round, No. 73 Washington street, was arrested yesterday by Inspectors Conway, Hart and Egan of headquarters, charged with the larceny of $463.50 in money and jewelry from his employer.

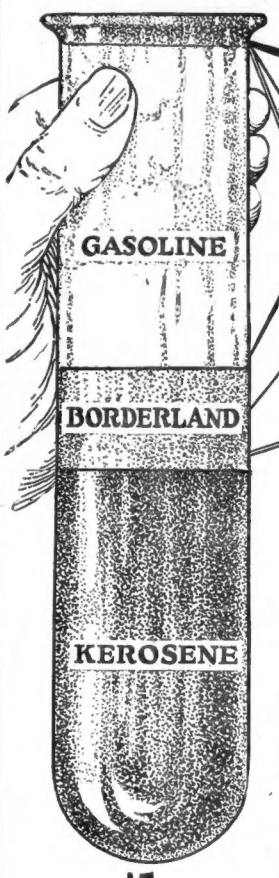
The "Borderland" of Gasoline



The New Colonial Gas all above the Borderland

United States Government Motor Gasoline in the Borderland

Inferior Gasoline often sold at cut rates – large percentage of Kerosene

NEW COLONIAL GASOLINE gives the motorist an "Anti-Knock" gasoline without extra price. And it's all above the "Borderland."

What Is "Borderland?"

If gasoline and kerosene settled in layers, here's what you'd see in a test-tube full of that part of crude oil from which gasoline is made.

At the top—a layer of good gasoline.

At the bottom—a layer of kerosene.

And between the two—in the "Borderland"—a mixture with some of the characteristics of both gasoline and kerosene.

It's this "Borderland" mixture" in ordinary gasoline that causes most engine-knocks. By devising new equipment, developing new processes, and omitting a considerable portion of what is ordinarily sold as gasoline—we entirely eliminated this "Borderland" mixture from the New Colonial Gasoline.

It costs us more to make this New Colonial Gas—but it costs you less to use. For every test proves that it's free from knocks; that its use results in livelier, speedier, more flexible motors, which stay clean and free from carbon indefinitely.

This NEW COLONIAL GAS is now ready—at all Colonial Stations and Colonial Dealers—at no extra price.

COLONIAL FILLING STATIONS, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

Watch for the special announcement now being mailed to every motorist in Colonial territory. Ask the nearest Colonial Station about it—and TRY the NEW COLONIAL GASOLINE.

WEST VIRGINIA ALIGNS AGAINST MAINE

Southern Pulp and Paper Man Favors Rates Based on Mileage

West Virginia pulp and paper manufacturing interests were aligned squarely against the same sort of interests in Maine at today's session of the Eastern Slass rate hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman at the Chamber of Commerce. C. C. Furgason, traffic manager for the West Irginia Pulp and Paper Association, asserted under cross examination he would prefer rates based on mileage rather than on groupings.

He insisted that even were his interesets located in Maine he would still prefer this system. This last statement came after he had practically admitted in cross examination that the introduction of the mileage system into the Maine territory would result in the death of the industry in Maine. His suggestion was so revolutionary as to cause gasps of amazemnis from those assembled in the hearing room who were identified with the Maine pulp and paper industry.

In order the hearing may be expedited and brought to a conclusion by tomorrow night Commissioner Eastman may hold a night session this evening.

Maine paper interests insist the group system of rates shall continue to prevail as they have during the past twenty-five years on the runs to the West. On strictly New England hauls the Maine shippers pay on the mileage system and make no objection to its continuance but they do object to any change in the system of charges for shipment into C. F. A. territory. They insist the introduction of the mileage system would mean the death knell of their industry and the death knell of the State, for no manufacturer or shipper could continue to operate under the plan.

FLAMES THREATEN REVERE COTTAGES

The cottages in the Oak Island section of Revere were threatened by fire today when a blaze from an unknown cause broke out in a cottage on Oak Island road. The small structure, owned by Mrs. Stewart of North Shore road, was badly burned and only the timely arrival of the apparatus prevented the fire spreading to other nearby cottages. Damage was about $00.

New Music Needs Disinfectant, Says Toscanini

Venice, Sept. 17 (A. P.).—Arturo Toscanini, formerly musical director of the New York Metropolitan Opera, sat at a table in an open-air cafe chatting with his friends concerning the International festival of contemporary music, which has just closed here and which was marked by the presentation of ultra-modern compositions.

The famous conductor remarked: "Thank God, it's over. Now we can disinfect the theatre."

A journalist seated at an adjacent table asked Signor Toscanini to explain more fully his expressions of contemptuous symphonic defects as exemplified by the programs of the festival.

"My impressions? It's utmost nausea," the musician replied.

O'CONNELL HAS HIS PAY HELD UP AGAIN

Veteran Roxbury Court Clerk Refuses to Give Up His Office

Maurice J. O'Connell, for thirty-four years clerk of the Roxbury District Court, still refuses to give up his office at Roxbury Court House, despite the ruling of the Boston Retirement Board he must accept the pension of $1788.80 allotted to him by the board last July.

Today was pay day for hte officials of Roxbury Court and O'Connell's name appeared on the payroll when it reached the office of City Auditor Carrens. Carrens refused to certify O'Connell's name to City Treasurer Curley, with the result the veteran nclerk of the court was for the second time in two months refused his pay.

O'Connell declares he will fight to remain in office. He claims he comes under the law governing heads of departments and cannot be retired.

Governor Fuller has been notified of O'Connell' suction and he is awaiting a ruling from the office of the Attorney General before making his decision.

No one has been appointed to fill O'Connell's place.

MORE CHRISTIANS DRIVEN OUT OF MOSUL BY TURKS

Bagdad, Irak, Sept 17 (A.P.).—Advices to the Exchange Telegraph correspondent here say eighty more Christian refugees have arrived at Zakho from the Goyan district of Mosul, all in a destitute condition. The authorities of Zakho have been instructed to assist the refugees. It is estimated that 8,000 Goyan Christians have been forcibly turned out of their homes by the Turks.

Formal complaint was male by Great Britain to the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva on Tuesday that Turkish soldiers had removed Christian inhabitants from villages in the territory of Mosul, sovereignty over which is claimed by both Turkey and the British mandate State of Irak. The Turkish spokesman said the British charge could not be true as there had been no Christians in the territory in question for the last year.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS CLEAN, SAYS KENT

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Environment of the students of the University of Illinois is clean, the convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor was told today.

The statement, taken from a report by Professor Charles Foster Kent of Yale, was presented to the convention in connection with the reply of university officials to correct the impression of Edwin Wright of Chicago in his address yesterday that moral conditions at the university were bad.

Speaking of Illinois, Professor Kent said: "Of all the State universities, the University of Illinois is in many ways the most typically American. The immoral liabilities in Urbana-Champaign are not as great as in most American communities, chiefly because its well-minded citizens, including the university officers, take an active part in its civic life."

SMALL HOPE FOR FARM LAWS IN NEXT CONGRESS

Washington, Sept. 17. (A.P.)—Whether the administration will submit any new farm relief proposals at the coming session of Congress, or merely stand on its recommendations of the past, has become a much-debated question.

It generally is agreed co-operative marketing legislation advocated unsuccessfully last Winter by the President's agricultural conference will again be endorsed by the White House, and majority leaders in Congress believe in one form or another it can be passed. But the outlook for a farm legislative program of general character is dubious.

Last month it was announced at Swampscott, President Coolidge would reassemble the agricultural conference to draft a general program.

Secretary Jardine does not favor that course.

BLAST IN MINE KILLS TWO AND BURNS TWO

Sixty-seven Others Escape in West Virginia; Investigation Is Started

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A thorough investigation into the explosion of fifteen five-pound cans of powder in the No. 2 mine of the Elm Grove Coal Company, at Triadelphia, starts today, A. E. Lafferty, district mine inspector, said. Two men were killed and two severely burned in the blast, but approximately sixty-seven others who were in the mine made their way out of it unaided.

The survivors said they were working at various distances from the blast. Some were made aware of it by dense clouds of smoke that rolled through the workings and others by a workman who ran through the mine shouting a warning. Those who were unhurt made their way to the surface unassisted.

The dead-Rock Sande, Triadelphia, a motorman, and William Kimball, Cambridge, O., a trapper, were riding an electric motor car with seventy-five cans of explosives. When the car had gotten into the workings to a depth of about two miles and all but fifteen cans of powder had been unloaded along the way, the remainder of the car's load exploded.

M. H. FARBRIDGE TO LECTURE TO B'NAI B'RITH

Rabbi Epstein Announces Services at Temple Kehillath Israel

Professor Maurice H. Farbridge, author of "Studies in Symbolism," will be the principal speaker at the first meeting of the season of the combined lodges of B'nai B'rith, Amos and Amos Auxiliary, which will be held at the lodge room in Beacon Hall next Monday night.

The main problems confronting the thinking Jews of today will be his topic of discussion.

Services at the Temple Kehillath Israel, Harvard street, Brookline, will be conducted by Rabbi Louis M. Epstein and Cantor Spivack.

Rabbi Epstein announced the following schedule:

First day of Rosh Hashonah, September 19, 10:30—"Beginnings."

Second day of Rosh Hashonah, September 20, 10:30—"United to Do the Will of God."

Yom Kippur Eve, September 27, 6:30 p. m.—"Sacrifice."

Yom Kippur morning, September 28, 11 a. m.—"Natural and Unnatural Sins."

* * *

At the first meeting of the year of the Ambuth Isaiah held in the auditorium of the Hebrew College, Crawford street, Roxbury, Dr. Nisson Touroff lectured on "The Hebrew Stage." The possibility of establishing and organizing a Hebrew stage in Boston was discussed.

JACKSON NAMED RED STAR HEAD AT ANTWERP

Sidney J. Jackson, for six years manager of the Boston office of the International Mercantile Marine Company, leaves today for Antwerp on the steamship Belgenland. He has been appointed manager of the Red Star Line office in Antwerp, and is going there to become familiar with his new duties.

Within a few weeks he will return to Boston to wind up his affairs and then will go back to Antwerp, accompanied by his family. Mr. Jackson made his home in Brookline.

NEWTON COP, FACING SUSPENSION, RESIGNS

The battle between Police Chief Burke of Newton and one of his officers, Benjamin Thomas, was won today by the chief—but not in love sets—when Thomas penned his resignation. Several days ago the resignation was asked, but Patrolman Thomas didn't care to resign. Today, however, when the chief made a move to suspend the policeman and prefer charges, the resignation came. According to Chief Burke, the policeman, who is married and the father of a child, has been engaged in several escapades.

Take a trip to the country with Fairmont's Better Butter

COME with us to green meadows where the grass is lush and tender. Where well-kept cows graze in luxuriant pastures and drink from the waters of crystal brooks. Breathe the pure, fresh air and drink in the sparkling sunshine.

"What an ideal country," you will say. "How clean and wholesome everything is." True—for it's the prize dairying section of America; where the richest of cream is produced and Fairmont's Better Butter is made from the very fat of the land.

At the Fairmont creameries you will marvel at the cleanliness and spick-and-span-ness of everything. Gleaming churns. Spotless floors. The freshly laundered white uniform every employee dons daily. And should you follow the making of Fairmont's Better Butter—from cream to carton—you would be struck by the painstaking care we use, by our rigid observance of modern creamery hygiene, by the scientific tests and controls employed. All of which bear a part in maintaining Fairmont's marvelous June-time flavor every month in the year.

And when you had finished your tour of inspection, you would say: "No wonder Fairmont's Better Butter is so pure and wholesome—so rich and finely flavored—so deliciously good!" And you would decide on the spot that thereafter your butter should be

You cannot buy Century Brand Stockings at any other store

ALL over New England, Century Brand silk hosiery is known for the beauty and durability of its texture.

Women often try to buy Century Brand at other stores in Boston and even in New York. Then they come back and ask us why they cannot find these stockings anywhere but at Chandler's.

The reason is, of course, that the Century trade mark is allowed only on the hosiery that comes up to the specifications of quality as established by us, and guaranteed by our own brand.

At Chandler's you will always find Century Brand silk hosiery in black, white and every fashionable Fall color and tint.

DOLLAR DAN IN SERMON ON 'CHANCES'

A little sermonizing today by Dollar Dan.

"The right kind of fun," said he to us, "is fun that does somebody some good once in a while."

"Like what, for instance?" we inquired.

"The most fun I get," he responded, "is in paying awards for lucky dollars to people who really need the money."

Then he told us about Mrs. Thomas O'Brien of No. 29 Houghton street, Worcester, winner of a $10 award with lucky bill No. A74566621B, showing us the note.

"I received this bill in change at my grocer's," she wrote. "We have followed the contest since it started and this is the first number we had.

"It comes in very handy, as my husband has been laid up for seven weeks with pneumonia and we have seven children going to school.

"God bless the Boston American!"

You can't blame Dollar Dan for cutting in his handing out of awards for lucky dollars.

Eleven more winners have collected with bills, receiving their awards of $50,$20 or $10, according to their luck, in $2 bills, these same being now almost rid of the olden jinx.

Dollar Dan has received a number of letters asking if readers in various communities of New England "have a chance?"

He reiterates that lucky bills have been placed in circulation in almost every city and town of New England that you can name. Everybody has the same chance—Bostonians no more than outsiders.

Read 'em. If the number isn't in today it may be tomorrow!

MAYOR FEIKER TO SEEK REELECTION

Northampton, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mayor William H. Feiker, who was defeated by Henry L. Bowles of Springfield for the Republican nomination for Congressman in Tuesday's special primary in the Second District, announced he would be a candidate to succeed himself at the municipal primaries. "I'd rather be Mayor of Northampton than Congressman, anyway," he added.

THEY WON IN THE DOLLAR HUNT

Helen Hosty, at left of above photo, is a Waltham winner of a Dollar Dan prize. Good luck smiled on Margie Boyd of Quincy, whose picture is shown at the right, and who picked a Dollar Dan prize.

LIVING TRAGEDY IS CLOSED BY DEATH

Woman in Asylum 56 Years While Fortune Multiplies Six-Fold

Death has brought to an end the tragedy of Margaret Winthrop Folsom, daughter of a famous diplomat and writer. The McLean Hospital for the Insane at Waverly was her home for 56 years.

The once beautiful society girl died at the age of 83, while her fortune had grown to six times its original size during her years of mental blankness.

Her estate now is estimated at $2,000,000.

Half a century ago young Irish immigrants landed in New York, hesitant and somewhat fearful. They sought shelter in the tenements owned by Miss Folsom.

The Irish left the Folsom tenements, and the Russian Jews inhabited the place, prospered, and went on. Followed the Italians, who also left their mark on the history of a young America, while through these teeming, busy years, Miss Folsom sat with her hands folded in her lap, her eyes unseeing.

As her fortune grew her brother and sister were appointed guardians. Her sister left to take up a residence in Europe, while her brother petitioned the court that their nieces and nephews be given a part of the fortune and not be compelled to wait until the death of their unfortunate aunt.

Today her body lies in the Gregg Funeral Home at Watertown waiting to be taken in charge by a New York lawyer who is now on his way here.

Miss Folsom was but 27 years old when she was committed to the asylum. Her fortune of $356,000 was an enormous one in those days, and this with her beauty and charm, and the prestige of her father's reputation and her mother's family, the Winthrops, made her one of the most sought society girls in New York.

Sparkling Eyes and Clear Glowing Skin Come Back

After INDICAN Test Showed Cause of Pimples, Blackheads, Pale Skin and Sleepy, Dull Eyes

Miss C. Berger, of 530 W. 114th St., New York City, who freed herself of Indican. Note clear skin.

It is amazing how a simple little test that thousands now are making can change you from a tired, sick person—sunken eyes, pimples, blotches, sallow skin, biliousness and no appetite, pale, pimply skin and listless, dull eyes.

What is INDICAN?

Indican is the danger sign which shows that poisons and foul gases due to sluggish stomach, liver and bowels are seeping through your blood—into every muscle and every joint. Unless checked, these poisons are said to cause serious diseases. Yet, thousands have Indican and don't know it until too late. Of! may think you are free from it, but a test may surprise you.

Make the INDICAN TEST Yourself

Have urinalysis made, and if the chemist reports Indican present, or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of sluggish bowels, bilious attacks, sour, bloated up stomach, bad breath, headaches and poor appetite, immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills and see how the Indican disappear and how much better you feel in every way.

Carter's Little Liver Pills not only make the stomach, liver and bowels work in a fine healthy manner, but also have been found to drive the Indican out of the system.

BORAH IN ARMS AS U. S. BARS COMMUNIST

Cites Saklatvala's Radical Utterances in Commons to Hit U. S. Free Speech Gag

London, Sept. 17 (I.N.S.).—The foreign office comment on Secretary Kellogg's action in barring Saklatvala, Communist, from the United States was piquant. "The United States had a perfect right to ban Saklatvala and the British government will not protest," said the official spokesman. There is much speculation as to whether Home Secretary William Joynson Hicks will order the arrest of Saklatvala and others for preaching sedition.

Washington, Sept. 17 (I.N.S.).—A determined effort will be made in the approaching session of Congress to amend the law which gives the State Department autocratic power to exclude foreign visitors on the ground they are "dangerous characters."

This became assured today following the Department's revocation of a passport to Shapurji Saklatvala, Indian member of the British Parliament, a British delegate to he Interparliamentary Union, invited by Congress to meet in Washington in October.

Saklatvala, by his own admission, is a Communist, and Secretary of State Kellogg decided the inflammatory speeches he had made in Commons and n public in England make him undesirable, even as a guest of Congress.

Influential Congressmen, among them Senators William E. Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, took decidedly opposite views today.

Pointing out that Saklatvala's speeches had been made to the British Parliament and in public, Borah declared the United States should be as liberal in the matter of free speech as the British Parliament. He decried the barring of the Indian as a short-sighted policy, comparable only to the "gagging" of Count Karolyi of Hungary by the State Department some months ago.

"We have laws in this country to protect ourselves," said Borah. "If Saklatvala violates them he can be arrested. If he incites Americans to commit crimes put him in jail. But to deny him a visitor's admittance is ridiculous."

"Kellogg Imbued With British Petticoat Ideals,"—Saklatvala

London, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Shapurji Saklatvala, Communist member of Parliament, barred from the United States as a member of the British delegation to the Interparliamentary Conference in Washington, blames Secretary of State Kellogg for his troubles.

Formally notified today that his passport visa had been revoked, he declared Mr. Kellogg, through his association with British peers and others of their class while ambassador in London, had become "imbued with petticoated aristocratic ideas of Great Britain to such an extent that he still clings to them, even in America."

Saklatvala, said the Secretary of State said, by cancellation of the visa, had violated constitutional practices as well as laws regulating the workings of interparliamentary conferences, and had "disregarded the ordinary laws of political decency."

"The Americans," he added, "agreed to act as my host, and yet at the last moment I am refused admission to the country. It is true that the Americans are afraid of the truth being known, and took action on this account."

"I had no intentions of carrying on any propaganda in the United States and intended to respect the laws and the constitution."

Whether he would go to Canada, he said, he had not yet decided.

"Politically," he remarked, "I am a much disappointed man."

GUTERMAN IN COUNCIL RACE

H. H. Guterman

Harry N. Guterman, Boston attorney and formerly special assistant attorney general and counsel for the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, announced his candidacy to represent Ward 12, old Ward 18, in the City Council at the Boston City Club, where he was given a dinner by sixty residents of his district. Henry I. Morrison, chairman of his campaign committee, was toastmaster.

The speakers were: Dr. Boris E. Greenberg, superintendent of Beth Israel Hospital; George Alpert, assistant district attorney; Colemand Levin, William Mann, Harris Poorvu, Samuel Rosenberg, Allen Robinson, Jacob Colpak, James J. Canter, Dr. Harry Goldman, Dr. Harris Fritz, Moses Brody and Jacob Cohen.

Mr. Guterman has the distinction of being the only Hebrew to hold an executive position with the Y. M. C. A., acting as director of its Department of Immigrant Education. He was the author of bills aimed to curb the rent "gougers" and led an investigation which helped reduce the cost of many living necessaries.

MISS ANNIE M. COLLINS DIES AT MEDFORD HOME

Miss Annie M. Collins, seventy-six years old, of Garfield avenue, Medford, died at her home today after a short illness. Death was due to heart trouble. Miss Collins was born in Chelsea. She had lived in Medford forty years. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Catherine C. Roche, of Medford, a niece, Catherine Roche, and a nephew, all of Medford. The funeral will be held Friday from the Immaculate Conception Church, Malden.

MOONSHINE AND STILL SEIZED IN MALDEN

Headed by Sergeant Mahan of the Malden police department, a squad of officers swooped down on the home of Sam Jesserman of No. 98 Lamont street and seized a 100-gallon still and twenty gallons of moonshine liquor hidden away in the kitchen closet. The liquor was in five-gallon glass jars. Jesserman was placed under arrest for keeping and exposing liquor. He started to battle the officers, but he was quickly subdued.

TAUNTON MEN HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Taunton, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Thistle I. Sherman, twenty-nine, died at the Morton Hospital here as the result of an illegal operation which the police and district attorney charge was performed by "Dr." William M. Williamson, sixty-nine, of Norton. Williamson and Irving N. Pittsley, forty, of Taunton, were arrested, the latter charged with being an accessory befor the fact. Both pleaded not guilty in the Attleboro district court and were held for a hearing later in the month.

TWO YOUTHS INDICTED IN GILLIS CASE SLAYINGS

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 17.—Charles Lefebvre and Louis Labombarde stand indicted today by the Hillsboro grand jury for the murder of Helen and Georgianna Gillis, who were beaten to death in their home at Hudson last July.

Suspicion was directed after the bodies of the spinster sisters were found by Lefebvre, a chore boy employed by them, and Labombarde, a relative of his. They told conflicting stories after they were arrested and they were held on the murder charge.

BECOMES BRIDE OF NAVAL MAN

Provincetown, Sept. 17.—Professor Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, one of the world's most eminent scientists, gave his daughter, Beatrice, in marriage to Lieutenant Festus Finlay Foster of the United States Navy today. The ceremony was performed at the Michelson Summer home.

Rev. Dr. J. Foster Savidge, Summer rector of the Church of St. Mary of the Harbor, performed the ceremony.

Only sixteen intimate friends of the bride attended the wedding. They came from Chicago.

A motor trip through New England will be the couple's honeymoon and then Lieutenant Foster will take his young bride to the navy proving grounds at Dahlgren, Va., where he is station. They will later move to Washington, D. C.

Professor Michelson, head of the department of physics at Chicago, is best known as the discoverer of the lengths of light waves.

The Michelsons have a Summer home here. When in Chicago they live at No. 5647 Blackstone avenue.

Welshman Best "O'Yezer" in Britain

London, Sept. 17. (A.P.)—The musical tones of the voice of J. Anderson, town crier of Abertridwr, Glamorganshire, Wales, has won the British Town Criers' championship, even though his voice could not be heard seven miles away, as was the case of some of the bellowings of other contestants. All day at Pewsey Village in Wiltshire, England, scores of variations of "O'Yez, O'Yez, O'Yez!" carried into the hills about with resounding echoes.

His voice is described as like the "tinkle of glass amplified 10,000 times."

Anderson earns a half crown for each sixteen times he exercises his championship throat in O'Yezing.

WOMAN PASTOR DEFIES HOUDINI

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17. (A.P.)—The Rev. Dr. Alice S. Dooley, pastor of the Pittsburgh Church of Divine Healing, announced today that she had accepted a challenge by Harry Houdini, magician, to prove herself a medium and that the test would be made tonight on the stage of a theatre where the magician is appearing.

The conditions for the test provide that the woman answer three questions submitted by Houdini in separate sealed envelopes with a cord through each of the envelopes.

Houdini has offered a prize of $10,000 to any medium who successfully meets the conditions.

WOMAN AT 68 BECOMES MOTHER THIRTIETH TIME

Madrid, Sept. 17 (A.P.)—At the age of sixty-eight, Camile Lorenzo, a resident of the town of Valladolid, has just given birth to her thirtieth child.

JAIL TERM FOR WALTHAM MAN

Life for Bernard J. Lotus of School avenue, Waltham, seems to be just one complaint after another. After a hectic hour in Waltham Court, he emerged handcuffed to a policeman and with nine months' jail sentence and $40 fine imposed.

He first faced the court on charges of having failed to pay two girl clerks in his employ at his erstwhile real estate office. No sooner was he fined $20 on each complaint than he was arraigned on charges of passing a worthless check for $25 on Gregario Tomasetti of Watertown and of larceny of 5000 cigarettes and 500 cigars from the same person.

The former charge drew three months from Judge Gibbs, while the latter was dismissed.

Then came the charge that he had passed a worthless check for $50 on Rufus Warren of Waltham. This brought an additional jail sentence of six months. He accepted sentence in all cases.

But his troubles were not at an end. A short time after he left the courthouse to begin serving his sentence came the news from Middlesex Superior Court that he had been indicted by the grand jury on a charge in connection with the complaint of Miss Eva M. Goulding of No. 91 Lotus street, Newton, a former employe.

Skunk Has Merry But Odorly Time With Court

Thompsonville, Conn., Sept. 17. (A.P.)—A lone skunk held undisputed control of police headquarters and the town courtroom today and as a result court convened in extemporized quarters.

Patrolman Paul Sheridan and Constable Thomas Quinlan were at the police desk when the visitor wandered in. On recognizing it they retreated precipitately. The skunk wandered to the courtroom. Patrolman James Bailes, of local repute as a hunter, was summoned but deemed it unwise to shoot. After stones failed, Bailes dispatched the animal with a club but not until it had rendered the place unfit for use.

ONE BILLION IN STOCK FRAUDS

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (I.N.S.)—Stock frauds perpetrated in New York State in the last year netted swindlers about $500,000,000, it was announced here by Deputy Attorney General Oliver B. James.

James said it had been estimated the total loss to stock investors in the United States during the year would reach one billion dollars.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1925

SECOND SECTION

JERROLD FREYNE, a young author who has written a book in which he tells the world about marriage, is engaged to marry ELSPETH VOICEY, child of aristocracy. While planning his wedding he meets GERDA MASKLYN, wife of his college chum, and is smitten by her beauty and easy way of taking life. Immediately he experiences a sensation he had ignored in his book. They meet, time and again; she even follows him to Austria, where he is to serve in the British Legation. ELSPETH, too, follows, and he finds himself hunted by two women. One, he vows, shall be his.*

(Copyright, 1925, by Rita Weiman)

CHAPTER XVII.

JERROLD, though invited to dinner at the Legation, excused himself to Sir Charles on plea of a headache. "Well, don't

Gerda and Jerrold have had a pleasant evening, but at the end Jerrold is set back by this question: "Elspeth is here! What did she say when you told her I was here too?"

forget to come in to any meal you like," the minister told him, "as long as Miss Voicey is out here."

Remembering that he had promised to call on Gerda and explain his hurried departure from the inn that morning, Jerrold dined quietly at home, and, before going round to the Anastasiusstrasse, sat for awhile on his balcony, puzzling out what he should say to her.

This visit was to be no meré politeness. It wasn't that he had to go and see her, but that he wanted to. He was burningly curious to see how she had taken the affair, whether she had changed, whether, in fact, all that his straining senses had told him about her was really true.

The scene in the lavender-scented room was etched irremovably on the plate of his mind with all the delicate skill of an etching: the pale moonlight, the glorious whiteness of her arms outstretched to him, the slender lines of her body. He remembered all this greedily, eagerly, though she had done to him a thing he would have loathed and despised in any other woman. She had detailed her beauties in catalogue, this and that, as he had never dreamed a woman could.

Had he written down a scene like that he would have torn it up in a frenzy of revulsion, because it would have seemed an indulgence of the senses unpardonably blatant and crude.

But now he had lived through that and clung to the memory of it as a man holds on to a glimpse of heaven seen through a chink in the world's wall.

As he climbed the stairs of 153, he felt as nervous as a schoolboy waiting to interview a furious head master or a young man on the verge of his first great passion.

When he came to Gerda's door he stood for some time. Then he knocked. A rustle of footsteps and she opened to him.

"I Was Wrong"

She looked very pale and tired he thought and instantly he felt sorry for her. Contrasted with the pallor of her cheeks and the darkness of her eyes, the Chinese robe she wore stood out in amazing brilliance.

"Come in, Jerrold." She led the way into a sitting room.

"Coffee?" She poured him a cup of heavy Turkish brew fairly flavored with rose-water. Then she sat down on a divan littered with brilliant cushions.

"I wondered whether, after all, you would come tonight," she said slowly.

"But why not?" His voice, to his own ears, sounded very hushed and far away.

"Because you hated me so last night. In your eyes I made myself cheap. Oh, don't try to deny it! I could read it in the way you looked at me. I confess myself beaten, Jerrold, and I'm not going to bear a grudge. I can still be your friend and read your books. You don't understand me, do you? If you did, the attainment wouldn't be worth very much, I'm afraid.

"I've spoilt everything between us, like a fool, by tricking you where you didn't want to be tricked and offering you what you'd never thought of trying for. I thought I knew, Jerrold, but, you see, I was wrong."

"You mean you thought no man couldn't want that, Gerda?"

"No, I'm not as vain as that, my dear, nor ignorant enough to believe the whole world adores. But something told me, so I thought, that you and I——" She broke off with a little gesture.

"Do you remember that afternoon we first saw each other in the waiting-room? I was Mrs. Arden then and you were the young man who couldn't keep his eyes from looking.

"Then there was Covent Garden and the tango, and you talking about women. You were difficult from the beginning, and I've always adored difficulties. We walked in the park a bit after that. Do you remember?" We met your fiancee

"Oh, Jerrold, and then the day before you left! It passed as heavy as lead—and seems to have been years

USELESS STUDIES DOOMED

Committee of Educators to Revise the Curriculum to Meet Modern Needs

A thorough revision of the curriculum in public schools of the State are under way by a committee of educators under direction of Commissioner of Education Payson Smith.

The aim of the committee is two-fold. It is proposed to keep the branches of study which are fundamental and to have the pupils test the studies by their practical application to every day life.

For some time the educational authorities have been aware that there was a general feeling on the part of the teachers and parents that the subjects taught have been too numerous and not well organized.

They feel the time is ripe for an overhauling of the text books with a view to eliminating odds and ends and weeding out subjects of no present-day value.

KEEP OWN CASH ACCOUNTS.

One complaint raised by parents and teachers is that the courses are too often abstract in their nature, having little or no relation to the every-day world in which the child lives. In arithmetic is pointed out, the average pupil is called upon to make little or no application of what he learns about "figuring." It is believed the student should keep a savings account in school, as one of many methods of putting his his acquired knowledge into actual use.

The study of history especially will be designed so lessons may be viewed in the "light of the present day." The educators feel a good deal of improvement can be made in the way of showing the connection of the dramatic episodes of the past with the world of today.

History, they say, should not be dealt with as if the past were buried, but with an eye to the linking up of past events with modern times.

REFINEMENTS TO GO.

"Refinements," which it is claimed the average child has little or no use for after leaving schools, are to be eliminated.

The general committee in charge of the revision, which will take two years to complete the work, is called the Committee on the Revision of the School Curriculum.

A steering committee of this main committee will act as an organizer of sub-committees.

GOLD GIFT HONORS WIVES

Tribute to Spouse of Boston American Medal Man a Symbol to Women

The decoration of Edward F. "Larry" Doyle with the first of the Boston Evening American Diamond Medals, on Wednesday next, will not be the only big moment of a popular program.

On behalf of the women and children of Boston the Boston Evening American [illegible] the fire Department, Mrs. Alice Dewitt Doyle will accept, One Hundred Dollars in gold.

As was said when the Evening American made its first announcement of the Diamond Medal, which will be conferred semi-annually upon that fireman whose conduct in the preceding six months has been "most meritorious," the idea is to let the men of the Boston Fire Department know how much they are appreciated by their fellow citizens.

But if it were not for the women of the B. F. D., the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of these 1,000 men who are ready at an instant's notice to take their lives in their hands, the fire department—any fire department—wouldn't amount to much.

The wife of the first Diamond Medallist is a "home" girl. Before her marriage she was Alice Dewitt, like "Larry" Doyle, a lifelong resident of that East Boston residential section known as Orient Heights.

Although they grew up [illegible] the same district, Larry did not see the "only girl" until he had joined the Fire Department and he set to put the Kaiser in his place. Larry and Alice met for the first time after the war was over.

Miss Dewitt was a telephone operator, employed in the East Boston exchange. There was a [illegible] of fires that brought [illegible] a-buzzing past the [illegible] That is how it began.

They have "[illegible] you." The girl [illegible] asked two; the boy, [illegible] Norman, a young gentlemen of four.

"I am just as proud of him as I was in the beginning. I [illegible] was a bit proud at first, [illegible] elated about the [illegible] to me to say any more, but I want there were hundreds [illegible] around, to everybody who has to stay at home and wait."

SYMBOL OF WOMAN'S DEVOTION

Mrs. Larry Doyle was a prime [illegible] before she married the Boston Evening American Diamond Medal fireman and the kinship of service may have inspired [illegible] to be. She will be given a purse of $100 in gold the gift symbolizing [illegible] of all [illegible] wives and daughters and their loyalty.

11 AUTO VICTIMS IN HOSPITALS

Hospitals of Greater Boston were receiving stations for eleven victims of automobile accidents early today.

A milk wagon driven by William Davidson of Davidson Brothers, Chelsea milk dealers, was struck by the auto driven by James U. Heffron of No. 28 Porter street, East Boston, on Broadway, Chelsea.

Not only was Davidson badly hurt but all the members of the Heffron party were cut and bruised.

The list included: Davidson and Heffron, Evelyn Harrison, No. 2 Yeoman court, Roxbury; Eleanor Doherty, No. 101 Norfolk street, Roxbury; Adeline Curtis, No. 2 Yeoman court, Roxbury.

A father and son party was staged by Walter Clark of No. 12 Elm street, Peabody, his son, Roger and the two fifteen-year-old girls.

The Clark car, driven by Roger, crashed head-on into a Motor Transportation Company truck en route to Portland. The four occupants of the Clark car were hurled from their seats and seriously hurt.

FRENCH DEBT PARLEY STARTS NEXT THURSDAY

Washington, Sept. 17 (A.P.)—Negotiations for the funding of France's four billion dollar debt to the United States will begin here one week from today, Acting Secretary Winston of the Treasury, Secretary of the American Debt Commission, issued a call today for a meeting of the American Commission next Thursday by which time the French premier, headed by Premier Malary Caillaux, will be in Washington. The President has asked Mr. Winston and Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, to meet the French mission in New York.

Late Finance Wizard's Son Heads New Haven Bus Lines After Selling Out

Arnold Lawson, son of the late financier, Thomas W. Lawson, has proved that he possesses all his father's business acumen. Young Lawson organized the bus system between Boston, Providence and Newport, calling it the Dreamwold Motor Coach Line, a title to his father's home at Egypt on the Cape.

The company prospered exceedingly, and now it has been taken over by the New England Transportation Co., a new holding company which has been made a subsidiary of the New Haven Railroad. Lawson will be general manager of the Lawson lines of the company, with offices at the Providence Station.

ARISTOCRACY OF BRAINS FALSE, SAYS HOPKINS

Dartmouth President So Avers if Any Group Tries to Make Them Monopoly

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—In telling the student body at the opening of Dartmouth College today that understanding was the vital quality needed, President Ernest Martin Hopkins said the most important question involved in the Scope evolution trial was not the right of a legislature to deny the children of its state the modern theories of leaders of scientific thought.

"It was a question, rather, in regard to the right of these men of learning to remain indifferent to public ignorance and to refuse to assume any responsibility for interpreting to men not technically trained what men of science have elected any why they have believed it.

COULDN'T OFFSET IT.

"Even if the attempt to do something of this in the trial had been successful, its influence could not have offset the long period of super-dogmatism which has characterized the attitude of many a man of scientific attainment towards those who were not of his cloth.

"Unfortunately for educational progress, dogmatism and bigotry were the exclusive attributes of no single camp in the issues which led up to this trial.

A FALLACIOUS THEORY.

"The theory of an aristocracy of brains is fallacious if it starts with any assumption that brains are exclusively the possession of any formal group whether defined by birth, wordly possessions, social station or even previous association with a formal institution of learning. The theory has justification only if brains are to be paid deference wherever found."

COMBS WORLD FOR CHEFS; WILL START SCHOOL HERE

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Chicago is to be the first training college for chefs in the United States, it plans of the American Caterers' Association are carried out. There is no such school now, it was announced, cooks says Jacob Miller, spokesman of the association. "Embassaries who have combed the old world for trained chefs report Europe can no longer provide the sort of cooking talent we require. We must draft our own chef material from native ranks. Salaries range from $10,000 to $35,000 annually, he said.

Never Took Time To Spend, Hence Vauclain Saved

Duluth Minn., Sept. 17 (A.P.)—Samuel Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, accumulated money because he was too busy to spend what he earned.

"If you take too much time off to spend your earnings, you can't accumulate, and it is intended for one to accumulate," he told 700 pioneer workers in Duluth industries at a banquet last night.

"I early realized it was my business and my duty to do all the work which came to me to do in the very best manner I was able to do it, and without any regard for the compensation which I received for it. I saved money. I always saved money, and why?—because I never had time to spend what I earned, and it accumulated."

GLYNN SPEAKS AT FIRE ALARM SIGNAL PLANT

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn spoke at the dedication exercises in the new fire alarm station in the Fenway today.

Alfred Davenport of William E. Davenport & Son, No. 85 Kilby street, former president of the Boston board of fire underwriters, who was unable to arrange to be present, sent the following jingle, which was to be read:

"Realization is the consummation of anticipation.
Hence this model central alarm station,
Erected in the Parkway, remote from conflagration,
A credit to the city—a standard for the nation."

UNCLE SAM'S HEALTH BETTER; FEWER DEATHS

Washington, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Despite an unusual number of deaths in June attributed to "heat waves," preliminary figures made public today by Surgeon General Cumming indicated the official death rate for the first seven months of 1925 would be lower than the average for the last five years. Health conditions were said by Dr. Cumming to have been "generally good" this year, with reports indicating that "most of the more common communicable diseases have been less destructive and usual." A decided decrease was shown in Diphtheria cases for the eight weeks since the first of July. Unusual prevalence of infantile paralysis during the Spring and Summer months was reported.

AIR MAIL FOR DENVER, NEW ORLEANS APPROVED

Washington, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Postmaster-General New has approved petitions for air mail service on routes between Chicago and Detroit, Cleveland and Detroit, Cheyenne and Denver, and Chicago and New Orleans via St. Louis, Memphis and Jackson or Vicksburg, Miss. Bids will be asked in a few days for the two services touching Detroit. It is understood proposals will be made by the Ford Interests. Proposals for the service between New York and Miami will not be called for at present. Tentative proposals for routes from Detroit to Miami and New York to New Orleans have been made.

LUCKENBACH CHARGES RAIL RATES ARE STIFLING CANAL

Washington, Sept. 17 (I.N.S.).—An investigation by the interstate commerce commission to determine whether transcontinental rates on 17 roads are not so unduly preferential as to constitute a barrier to water transportation through the Panama Canal, was requested today by the Luckenbach Steamship Company. The petition set forth that these rates are so preferential that they hinder the growth of steamship traffic in coast to coast business.

DUSE ESTATE NOT SUBJECT TO TAX

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The estate of Eleanore Duse, Italian actress, who died at Pittsburgh last year while on a farewell tour was exempted from the State inheritance tax under a ruling issued today by Surrogate Foley. He decided she was a resident of the United States at the time of her death. The application for exemption placed the value of the estate at $40,000.

SAWMILL BLAZE BELIEVED INCENDIARY

Derry, N. H., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, today destroyed the sawmill of Benjamin F. Adams in this town, together with considerable lumber. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

Pick Bancroft Successor

Washington, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg agreed today on the choice of a successor to the late Edgar A. Bancroft, ambassador to Japan. The name will be forwarded immediately to Tokyo for information as to the acceptability of the appointee. It was not made public.

"RIGOLETTO" A DELIGHT TO THE EAR

San Carlo Company Pleased Appreciative Audience; Sing Opera in English

September opera is doing better with each night of the present stay of the San Carlo Opera Company in Boston. Last night at the Opera House there was an even larger audience than it of either of the two preceding evenings, the house was opened to a second.

The performances get better, as we, as the cast as. There was especial zest in the "Rigoletto" of last evening. The sudden insertion of Frances Peralta into the role of the Duke, because of the illness of Giuseppe of the evening before, was one of the high lights of the evening.

Mr. Peralta sang fully as well as he did on Thursday evening and justified the unanimous praise with which he was greeted then.

SINGING A DELIGHT.

Full, rich and mellow was the quality of Joseffine Lucchese. This singer appeared with the San Carlo company several years ago and then dropped out of sight of Boston audiences after having made a notable impression. Her singing in "Rigoletto" was a delight to the ear and intelligence of the listener. Her beautiful soprano voice employed with charm and skill, recalled the impression she made on the occasion of her appearance here several years ago.

The third principal part, the title role of Rigoletto, was admirably rendered by Emile Ghirardin. He was given a good deal to sing to better advantage than was the case in his appearance as Amonasro Monday night. Last night he had one of the most thankful roles in an opera. "Rigoletto" is enough to say that he sustained the dramatic interest throughout.

OPERA IN ENGLISH.

In the afternoon Humperdinck's charming opera "Hansel and Gretel" was presented in English. The experiment of having "Grand" opera in the Anglo-Saxon vernacular proved very much worth while. In the audience were many children—and grown-ups, too—who enjoyed the work infinitely more as it was presented than if it had been given in German.

The performance of this work proved also—as did that of "Rigoletto" in the evening—that there are many operas that can be skillfully presented by a company even though it doesn't charge top prices for its seats.

Tonight the perennial operatic twins, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" are to be presented.

Sox Alumni Always in Big Series

By JOHN V. REGER

Rumor, isn't it that no world's series would be complete without a Red Sox team or a member of the Sox [illegible]. That has been the case for the last ten years [illegible] a half.

Two of the Red Sox alumni have been of invaluable service to the [illegible] this year. Walter Johnson, Manager for [illegible] Bucky Harris, as the Washington [illegible] as the first baseman and leader [illegible] the Senators to the [illegible] Johnson was the Washington [illegible] In 1917 the White Sox [illegible] and Pitcher Cicotte were [illegible] with the Red Sox [illegible] soon as the season [illegible] and was hurled [illegible] from [illegible]

It was the Cleveland team [illegible] At one time or another [illegible] record of the owners of [illegible] Stephenson, Frazee, Carrigan, Thomas, Navin, Hauser and [illegible] West.

JACK SHARKEY IS PICKED TO WIN FROM RISKO

INVADER IS TO RELY ON BIG SOCK

Sharkey in Razor-Edge Condition and Ready to Set Torrid Pace Tonight

BOXING MENU TONIGHT

1—Pancho Joe Walcott vs. Mark Taylor, Haverhill, six rounds.

2—Johnny Yuest, Brighton, vs. Steve Nugent, Cleveland, eight rounds.

3—Sammy Fuller, North End, vs. Louis Prince, Manchester, N. H., eight rounds.

4—Jimmy Madden, Roxbury, vs. Frank Caton, New Bedford, eight rounds.

5—Jack Sharkey, Brighton, vs. Johnny Risko, Cleveland, ten rounds.

By JACK CONWAY

A FIGHTER against a boxer

Jack Comiskey

"I shall win," was Sharkey's prompt reply to our query. "You can tell your readers that I am in as good condition as I was when I won over Jim Maloney, Jack Renault and Icing Solomon. I wasn't in shape when I lost to Gorman. I entered the ring ten pounds overweight, due to the lack of sparring partners.

"I feel the benefit of my seven weeks' layoff. I'll admit it was tough for me to make the weight, but I shall be in good condition. I have had plenty of fast boxing with Risko, but I shall use a right hand if there's any knockout stuff on tap tonight. I shall be the one to put the big punch over."

NOW that you have the statements of the respective contenders who will battle the next ten rounds at the Boston Arena this evening, you may wish to get the opinion of a ringside observer.

It has been a long time since Jack Sharkey has been in the ring. He has not had a real fight since he knocked out Jack Renault, over two years ago. He has had a few workouts, but these are not to be compared with the gruelling battles he has had in the past. Sharkey has been training for the Risko fight for seven weeks. He has had plenty of sparring partners, and should be in the best of condition.

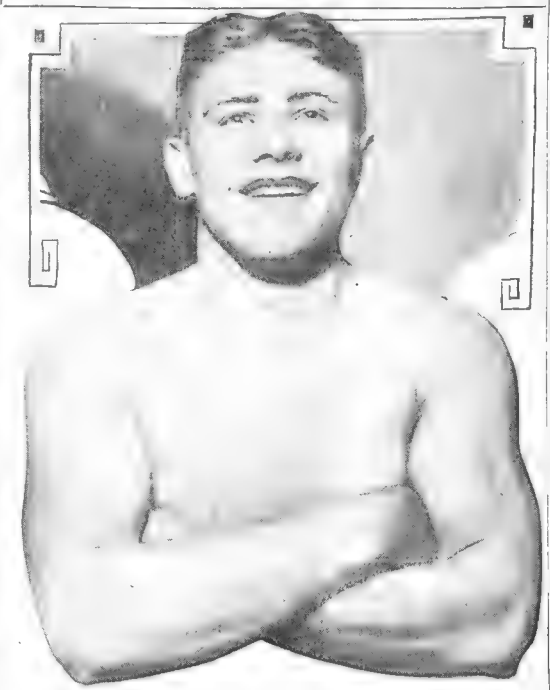
Sharkey is a clever boxer, and has a fine left hand jab. He is a fast worker, and has a good punch with both hands. He is a fighter who will not be content to box, but will mix it up at every opportunity.

Risko is a big, strong fighter, who has been in the ring with the best of them. He is a hard hitter, and has a good punch with both hands. He is a fighter who will not be content to box, but will mix it up at every opportunity.

Sharkey is "right" and if he fights the kind of a battle he is capable of putting up should win from Risko. This is an important tussle for the Brighton heavyweight as he has matches with Icing Solomon and Jim Maloney depending upon the outcome of this evening's duel of boxing gloves.

It is one of the most important bouts ever staged in Boston, and will be watched with great interest by the fans.

Risko's Victory Smile



"I'll also be smiling after my bout with Jack Sharkey," said Johnny Risko as he was "snapped" by a Boston Evening American photographer. But, win or lose, Risko promises to give everything he has in a fighting line tonight.

WORK OF "HAMS" MAKES TRANSMITTING POPULAR

WOODEN PANELS USED FOR SHORT WAVE SETS

WGY and WSB use dry hard wood for mounting and for panels on their short wave transmitting sets. Hams could well follow suit. Laminated three to five ply maple, treated with either paraffin oil or linseed oil, will make a mighty efficient panel.

By ARTHUR WINNE,

Originator of the Word-Cross Puzzle.

Can you change GRAPE to JELLY in 17 steps, dropping one letter in each step down and substituting a new letter to spell a new five-letter word? The word to be letted in on each step down should differ from the word on the step above it by one letter only and could also correspond with the numbered definition given below. The solution to this puzzle will appear tomorrow together with a new puzzle, GNOME to GIANT in 19 steps.

WELL ONE DAY IN BED THREE

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan.—"After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed.

One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand." — Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R.F.D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

BOBBY LEARNS A LESSON FROM BEARS

By Foxy Grandpa

"FOXY GRANDPA," said Bobby, "some of the boys at school are taking boxing lessons and I would like to very much."

"No reason why you can't, Bobby," I said. "Nothing like a young fellow learning the manly art of self-defence," and I thought of the days when nothing in the world seemed quite as important to me as that very same art.

So Bobby ran off to school the next day in high spirits and that afternoon, when he came home, he said:

"I start tomorrow, Foxy Grandpa," and out into the hall he went making passes and jabs at an imaginary opponent.

The boxing now occupied most of Bobby's thoughts and leisure hours. I rigged up a punching bag in the barn for him and as I sat on the veranda I could hear it banging against the wooden wall as he punched away with his little fists.

"I'm going to bring Jimmy Watson home this afternoon, Foxy Grandpa," called Bobby, one morning, as he ran out of the front door with his school books slung over his shoulder. "He is taking lessons and we are going to practice with each other."

Bobby and Jimmy came home very promptly that afternoon and after they had made an inspection of the cake box and refrigerator off to the barn they went.

All was very quiet for a while and then I heard several shouts and they didn't sound very pleasant to me, so I went out to the barn to see what was going on.

I stepped in and the minute I looked at the little athletes I knew they were not practising. They were in earnest. A real fight was on.

"Come, come, boys, I said. "This won't do. You ought to be able to have a friendly bout without getting mad."

They took off their gloves, but it wasn't until I suggested some lemonade that the fierce expressions on their little faces vanished.

"I'll have to take you to the Zoo to see some real sports," I chuckled.

Ten o'clock on the following Saturday saw us on our way to the Zoo and I could see that both of my little friends were so curious that they could barely contain themselves.

We bought some peanuts, lingered a few moments with the elephants and then I made straight for the bear pit.

Those bears must have known what was in my mind, because we had no sooner stepped up to the railing than one bear, which was walking lazily back and forth, took a mischievous look at his companion, who was dozing peacefully in a corner, and with his big paw gave him a cuff alongside the ear.

Like a flash the sleepy bear was up on his four feet, and then, as if the referee had rung the bell, the two big bears were up on their hind legs and the bout was on.

They took their distance as naturally as two prizefighters in the ring. They parried and struck and dodged with an accuracy which was astounding.

What a good match that was! Finally the first bear knocked the other one down. The fight was over. He had won. Without any snarling or biting, the two contestants lay down cosily together and in a moment were sound asleep—as friendly as two pups.

"Now, you see, Bobby, that is the way to have a scrap. Fight, but don't get mad."

"Yes, sir," said Bobby, looking straight into Jimmy Watson's eyes.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

FAR inland, the sun rays glimmer on the heads of the waving wheat, and endlessly heat waves shimmer in bright rnike that advance, retreat. Fiercs heat holds the land in its power, and it sears with its burning touch the petals of each fair flower that its ardors clasp overmuch. Far inland as dusk discloses the pals star that will watch day's death, I walk by the drooping roses and I dream of the sea-wind's breath. I dream of bright crests that flower on the boundless field of the sea, the sea that has song for her dower and a wind blowing cool and free. Far inland, and yet I borrow fresh hope as the slow days move, for this longing forecasts some morrow I shall dwell by the sea I love.

A woman went into a far country to visit a friend and to find out if it was a healthy country to live in and if many people died there. So she asked a farmer if people died there often. And the farmer answered, "They only die once."

Mother (severely) — "Johnny, where is that piece of cake I left here when I went out?"

Johnny—"I gave it to hungry little boy, mamma, and oh, he was so glad to get it!"

Mother—"Come to my arms you dear angel. Who was the little boy?"

Johnny—"Me."

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

FINANCE

By B. C. FORBES

Many lives are saved by pumping new blood into the veins of sick persons—blood transfusion, it is called. Many sick and dying business enterprises are also saved by the infusion into the management of new blood. Veritable transformation oftentimes is wrought.

The most spectacular recent demonstration of the effectiveness of new blood has been given by the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland in the re-habilitation and upbuilding of the Nickel Plate railroad system.

But lately there have been other notable exhibitions of what new blood can do both in the railroad and industrial fields.

First take two industrial instances:

Eighteen months ago Julius Rosenwald, the daddy of Sears, Roebuck & Company, reached out for a new president. He engaged C. M. Kittle, then vice-president of the Illinois Central system. Mr. Kittle was essentially a railroad man, and his selection caused widespread comment. But that he possess there The market value of Sears-Roebuck shares when Mr. Kittle took hold was around $110,000,000. Today the shares have a market value well in excess of $200,000,000.

Benjamin L. Winchell, who had the reputation of being about the best traffic man in the country, was induced to take charge of the Remington Typewriter Company three years ago. Nobody believes there was a deficit in the year before he took hold, his first year showed a net profit of fully one million dollars, last year the profits reached $1,700,000.

Of the value new blood has been to a number of other railroads there can be no question. The results speak convincingly. I discussed this subject the other day with P. J. Lisman, perhaps the best-informed Wall street investment banker on America's railroads, their history, operations and finances. Here are some of the achievements of new blood mentioned by him:

"The Chesapeake & Ohio elected a new president (W. J. Harahan) to succeed a faithful wheel horse who had been in charge of the property for a generation. The result since then have been surprising.

"The Missouri-Pacific system has made a remarkable recovery since its management has been placed under the presidency of L. W. Baldwin it now has the good will of its employees and patrons, which it had not previously enjoyed, and the result has been a steady growth in gross earnings.

"There has recently been a change in the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern which is likely to show results almost as satisfactory as those in the Missouri-Pacific. The new president is Fred W. Sargent.

MAKE PUBLIC EARNINGS OF SHUBERT

The Shubert Theatre Corporation, which was organized in June, 1924, as a consolidation of the various Shubert enterprises, has made public for the first time in the history of Shubert enterprises an annual statement of earnings. After all expenses including depreciation, interest and taxes, net income for the year ended June 30, 1924, was $1,075,931, equivalent to $7.02 a share on the 150,000 shares of stock outstanding.

A feature of the company's balance sheet which showed total assets of more than $14,500,000 and net assets of $6,118,415 equivalent to $40.79 a share reduction was made in the outstanding amount of 7 per cent. Debentures due July 1, 1954. At present only $15,000,000 are outstanding. Indicating that $1,000,000 were retired during the year out of earnings.

A feature also is the small amount of working capital shown to be used in the business. Current assets are reported at $1,814,935 against current liabilities of $741,147.

3 P. C. DISTRIBUTION ON TECUMSEH MILLS

Tecumseh Mills declared dividend of 3 per cent. payable October 1. This dividend is in the nature of a distribution of assets and makes a total of 116 per cent. paid by that corporation since its absorption by David Mills about three months ago. Tecumseh, although no longer a "live" corporation, has been retained on list of cotton cloth manufacturing corporations in each operation since its acquisition by the David Mills.

ISLAND CREEK COAL COMPANY
PREFERRED STOCK DIVIDEND

The Directors of the Island Creek Coal Company have declared its regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share upon the Preferred stock of this Company, payable October 1, 1925, to preferred stockholders of record at the close of business September 21, 1925.

F. W. BATCHELDER, Treasurer.

ISLAND CREEK COAL COMPANY
COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

The Directors of the Island Creek Coal Company have declared a regular dividend of $2.00 and an extra dividend of $1.00 per share on the Common Capital Stock of this Company, payable October 1, 1925, to the common stockholders of record at the close of business September 21, 1925.

F. W. BATCHELDER, Treasurer.

AUGUST COPPER OUTPUT SET AT 126,000 TONS

The world's output of copper in August is calculated at 126,000 short tons by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, which compares with 129,200 in July, 129,600 in June and 126,100 in May. This estimated world's output for the first eight months of 1925 was 1,043,900 tons.

* * *

The Shawinigan Water and Power Co., Canada, has increased its dividend from 7 per cent. to 8 per cent., with declaration of quarterly disbursement of 2 per cent., payable October 19 to holders of record September 22. Stockholders also have been given the right to subscribe to new stock on the basis of one new share for each 20 held, the privilege expiring October 15.

* * *

The proposed sale of the Huyler chain of candy stores to the Frank G. Shattuck Co., operators of ten rooms and restaurants, which has been under negotiations for weeks, is reported to have been finally agreed to by subject to objection by stockholders of both companies to the terms of the merger.

* * *

Controlled properties of the Electric Power & Light had net earnings of $16,528,920 after taxes, but before interest and depreciation for the year ended July 31, compared with $14,929,313 the year before.

* * *

Pullman Co. in the past fiscal year, ended July 31, earned enough from its transportation business alone to cover dividend requirements and leave a comfortable margin, it is learned. In addition, Pullman Car & Manufacturing Co., segregated last year, earned at a substantial rate on the $30,000,000 capital held by Pullman Co. Financial position of Pullman Co. is understood to be excellent.

* * *

Revival of railroad buying is indicated by the substantial increase in inquiries from the carriers, according to reports from the steel trade. "Signs of better railroad buying, an increased demand for the heavier finished steel products, particularly bars, for which prices show more strength, and an advance of 50 cents in Valley and Chicago pig iron again put the balance of the trade sheet distinctly on the favorable side of gain," declares the Iron Age.

State Street Notes

DOMINION Stores present common dividend rate is $1 per annum. There is expectation that the company will pay a stock dividend and increase regular rate at a meeting of the directors this month.

WESTERN Union directors meet within a month and there is strong likelihood that action will finally be taken with regard to the long-delayed plan whose consummation will mean decided benefit to shareholders in the way of valuable rights, a stock dividend, and an increase in present $7 cash rate.

ALTHOUGH indications are that Great Western Sugar Co. earnings in 1925 will run well above those of last year, officials believe the annual common dividend of $8 will be earned by a comfortable margin despite low sugar prices so far.

OUT of respect to former President Seymour L. Crowell the New York Stock Exchange will close at 2:30 on Friday.

CLINCHFIELD Coal Corporation declared a dividend of $1 on common stock, payable October 1. Dividend was $1.50, paid March 16 last.

Big Jump in Tax Receipts

Despite the fact that federal income taxes have undergone a reduction during the past year, the receipts of the Collector's office in this city during the third installment period, Sept. 1 to 15, show an increase of more than a million dollars over those of the same period in 1924.

The sum of $10,648,070.73 has already been deposited in the Federal Bank, and twenty sacks of mail delivered at the bureau yesterday are expected to yield another seven million dollars.

George W. B. Britt, deputy collector in charge since the resignation of Malcolm E. Nichols, declared that the figures indicate a healthy business condition and were complimentary to the taxpayers of the district. It is expected complete figures will be available Sept. 19.

Caillaux's Offer Awaited

France Makes Final Preparations to Send Debt Funding Commission to America

France made final preparations Tuesday to send her debt funding mission to the United States. If settlement is reached it will provide a definite model upon which most other war debt settlements may be formed.

Dispatches from Paris described M. Caillaux as having been endowed with full power by his Cabinet to reach a settlement at Washington. Later he described himself to the British and American correspondents in Paris as prepared to make a "gentleman's proposition to gentlemen."

It is difficult to tell what that means. There is no word in French to correspond precisely with the English or American term "gentleman." The Associated Press does not say whether he used some French phrase which its correspondent felt justified in translating as "gentleman."

Even though M. Caillaux should come here with the best intentions in the world his declarations, and those made for him, must be carefully scrutinized if fatal misunderstanding is to be avoided.

There is a French phrase sometimes translated as "gentleman," but it means more nearly either one well born or a man of fashion. With neither a man of fashion nor with one well born does the American mind necessarily connect the habit of paying honest debts.

It is to be hoped M. Caillaux dropped into unequivocal English, as many French people do when trying to speak the idea of "gentleman."

It is to be hoped that his use of such a term means that he will come here with one fact clearly in his mind. He will find it clearly in the minds of the American statesmen with whom he will deal and with the American people back of those statesmen. It is this:

Gentlemen Pay Their Debts.

Tolerance in Religion

Our Goals Are Also Social Understanding and Religious Freedom

Discussing "American Religion," the London Church Times takes a gloomy view. We are "essentially a Puritan country."

The Puritans, the Church Times says, stoned men to death for kissing their wives on Sunday and burned witches. Since then the Puritan rigidity of religious ideas has prevailed and it has been "far removed from European traditions of liberty." America and England "stand for different cultures . . . even for different morals." They may be friends, but for England to speak of America "as a sister and Anglo-Saxon nation" is "ridiculous."

We agree that America is not an "Anglo-Saxon" nation. Whether it is a "sister" of England depends on what the term "sister" means in this connection. It was used very freely by English papers to describe America during the World War.

The statement of the Church Times shows that that paper is painfully ignorant of the facts, though "religious" editors, even more than other editors, ought to acquaint themselves with fact. The Puritans did not stone men to death for kissing their wives; they did not burn any witches.

Since the days of the Puritans, moreover, the Puritan influence has steadily lessened in New England, and outside of New England it has scarcely been felt.

It is true that we have what Matthew Arnold, speaking of the English, called "Philistines," but in England, according to Arnold, they made up the bulk of the population. So far from imitating the English, we have persistently asserted our right to go our own way.

Our goals in religion are tolerance, social understanding, religious freedom. It is curious to see the Church Times turning its back on all three. It is possible that in the frenzy of annoyance that Americans are not little Englishmen, the Church Times more Puritan than America is?

The Rejuvenated Piano

Attachment Brings It Into Competition With Jazz Instruments

John Hays Hammond, Jr., apparently aspires to become the Steinach of music.

He has grafted into the piano a device which produces the sobbing notes of the saxophone, thus bringing the staidly respectable old instrument into active competition with jazz instruments generally.

The experiment will be worth listening to, once at least. It is difficult to teach an old dog new tricks, but not impossible.

With trap drums and saxophones, radio and phonographs, the piano is having a struggle to hold its place in the modern home. But if it can be made a one-instrument orchestra of indefinite elasticity, the fickle tide of public favor may turn.

Politeness in the Theatre

From Madrid comes word that a famous opera star who showed a prima donna-like exhibition of temper in an opera was hissed off the stage.

The next day he wrote a public apology to the newspapers asking the people to pardon his overwrought nerves.

Another opera singer was also hissed off the boards for a similar outburst.

In America this would seem like a revolution.

Such a thing is practically unknown.

We accept calmly exhibition of temper and vanity and disagreeableness from our entertainers without a murmur.

In Shakespeare's time if the audience in the pit did not like a play or an actor there was a riot until they got something they did like.

A "course of mobs" was once recommended as the best training for those connected with production in the theatre.

Now Do a Thorough Job

UNCLE SAM may well sit for a few minutes gazing at the wreck of his flying prospects.

He invented the flying machine.

From the Wrights and Curtiss down he has produced a long line of great flying men.

Nothing can detract from the glory of the men who died at their post of duty in the Shenandoah. Nothing can dim the glory of Commander John Rodgers great sailorman's exploit in SAILING the PN-9, No. 1, almost into port after being nine days lost at sea.

But our aviation as such lagged far behind the exploits of our other troops in the Great War.

The tragedies that were the occasion of the heroism of Landsdowne, Rodgers and their messmates, should never have occurred.

Uncle Sam may well turn his eyes upward to the rising demand for the immediate establishment of an independent and united air force.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

SEVERAL families who live in beautiful homes have sold their ash cans and bought ostriches. An ostrich is not only much more ornamental but he's twice as decorative.

YOU can pay three hundred dollars for a refuse barrel, but you can't get one with feathers.

THE barrels have to be taken away every morning but you never have to empty an ostrich.

HIS food costs nothing. All you have to do is toss him an old Ford once in a while.

OF course some of these birds are very Ritzy and won't eat anything but parts from Rolls Royces.

ONE fellow had an ostrich who always ate bicycles between meals.

HE got sick, however, because he wouldn't chew them well.

HANDLE bars will give anybody indigestion if you swallow them whole.

THE owner took the ostrich to a veterinarian and had him operated on for hub caps.

HE got so many parts out of him that he started a garage.

NO matter how many pistons an ostrich swallows, you never have to grind the valves.

THE ostrich was a bad influence in the neighborhood. He even had the sparrows eating bolts and nuts.

NOT only that, but the woodpeckers bit holes in his engine.

ONE man with a large car had to buy a flivver so that the ostrich could go on a diet.

HIS throat began itching one day and he cured it by eating barbed wire.

THE other birds copied everything he did. It got so bad that the owner of the place had to put muzzles on the canaries.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

ON "SILENT MEN."

Some men ARE dumb,
Others only SEEM to be
Because they are FORCED To keep their mouths SHUT
By WIVES
Who take the CENTRE
Of the stage and demand
All the LIMELIGHT.
These men MAY be subdued
In PUBLIC, yet they are
CONVNCED in their hearts
There is SOMETHING WRONG
With the UNIVERSE
That allows WOMEN to Shout out what LITTLE
Knowledge they possess
And FORCE a man
Who knows BETTER to LISTEN. But having Tried LOGIC and IRONY,
Argument and EXPOSTULATION
ALL IN VAN, they
Finally remain SILENT
And feel RATHER SORRY
For ALL WOMEN.
Men who are ACTUALLY
DUMB, have but few
CONVICTIONS to speak of,
And the difference is,
When THEY marry a woman
Who is NOT SO DUMB
They are GLAD of it.

THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters Must Not Contain More Than Two Hundred Words. No Anonymous Communications Will Be Considered

Memorial System

To the Friend of the People:

Over in England they say that the gyroscopic monorail transport system will be soon tried out. Its inventor, Louis Brennan, after 30 years' experiments, feels that the problem has been solved. He claims the monorail will make possible trains three times the width of the present ones and will travel at twice the speed. Something like this was agitated in Boston years ago. Now it seems to be a possibility in England.

R. S. FAIRBAIRN.

Deaf Pedestrians

To the Friend of the People:

May I add my endorsement of the suggestion of designating the deaf pedestrian so he may be easily recognized by auto drivers? Just a simple mark on the lapel of the coat or sleeve, the more modest it is the better, would inform traffic cops and secure their assistance.

LAURA L. LEIGHTON.
Secretary New England Home for Deaf Mutes.

Helped to College

To the Friend of the People:

The movement to give young Italians a college education is progressing in the city, and is bound to have its special influence upon other races in this section of the country. We have just sent a promising young man, recently graduated from High School, to Colgate University. We have found that in this way we can promote Americanization. The better educated the young Italians are, the more they enter into the spirit of this Republic.

Women in 2234 A. D.

To the Friend of the People:

Can you give the address of the lecturer who has been prophesying what Boston will see in the year 2234 A. D.? His talks were given in a building on Huntington Avenue, near Dartmouth street.

Among other things, he said that woman's brain will then have developed on a level with man's; that the fair sex will have discarded short skirts, and will wear blooms entirely, of different shapes and colors; that they along with men will patronize the same barber shops and wear short hair. I would be thankful for this information and whether any book has been written on this matter.

MRS. M. N. NEWTON,
Massachusetts Avenue, Boston.

Selling to Women

To the Friend of the People:

It takes more skill, energy, yes, psychology, to sell goods of any kind to women than to men. A man will come into a store, call for what is wanted and, instead of turning the article over several times, he says, "I'll take that." He cannot bear to be fussy. At least, it is not his nature to be so particular.

Why does it take the woman so long to reach a conclusion when a man has not that trouble?

Many of my friends in business tell me to serve them.

SAMUEL WALMSBERG.
Roxbury, Mass.

Need More Women on Staff

To the Friend of the People:

Why not have more attendant officers, sometimes called truant officers, who are women?

Boston schools need about thirty or more of these officials and only two today are women. In my opinion, half of them should be women. Women officers of this kind can get closer to the mothers of the boys and girls who are to be looked after.

We ought also to have women who can speak different languages to visit the different nationalities.

STELLA M. CARSON.

THE INCREASERS AND THE DECREASERS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

EVERYTHING in the world may be roughly placed in one of two classes: the Increasers and the Decreasers.

On one hand we have the things like axes, shoes, books, automobiles and toothbrushes.

They wear out with use. They are the Decreasers. They decrease in strength and value by being used.

Then there are those things that become greater and more powerful by being used. They are the Increasers.

Foremost among these is your mind. As Polonius said of the intellect, "It is ours when we use it, but not ours when we do not use it." Our brains expand and grow and develop and gain in power and worth the more we use them.

Memory, will power, and courage also grow stronger the more we use them.

Such qualities of character as honesty, sincerity, unselfishness and charity enlarge and gain by being put into practice.

Our muscles increase in size and gain in strength when we exercise them. Never use them, and they disappear. The more they are utilized the more their strength increases.

This also applies to skill with the body or the hands. Likewise agility of mind increases with practice.

The more you use a typewriter or a piano the greater your skill becomes. The typewriter and piano may decrease in value as they are used, but your skill and ability will increase.

The principle of Laissez faire, of letting things alone, may apply to the decreasers, but never to the increasers.

If you let your mind alone it deteriorates and you become an ignoramus. If you let your body alone your muscles weaken and your health breaks down. If you let your capacity for friendship and unselfish action alone they decrease and you become a recluse.

The important things of life lie in the class of increasers.

They are the producers.

They are the final source of man's power over his environment.

They can replace the decreasers when they are worn out.

They are the part of life that should be given first consideration.

HIGHWAY OF SUN, MOON AND PLANETS

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"The term 'Zodiac' has always been enigmatic to me. I am cognisant of the fact that the Zodiac is an imaginary belt in the heavens, containing the twelve constellations or signs of the Zodiac, which the sun traverses annually, but I am at an absolute standstill when I attempt to locate it in the heavens. When it is said that the sun enters a sign does it mean that the sun passes through it while in its apparent journey North and South, namely, its declination? The Zodiac is termed the apparent path of the sun, I think. If this is so, where in the sky is the Ecliptic? Do the Ecliptic and the Zodiac coincide? R. L. K."

I HAVE made for you a little chart of the Zodiac, which may aid in clearing up your mystery. A few definitions are necessary to begin with. The Ecliptic is the middle line of the Zodiac, and this represents the true apparent path described by the sun every year.

The Zodiac is a belt 16 degrees in width, extending 8 degrees on each side (i. e. North and South) of the Ecliptic.

Orbits Inclined.

The orbits of the planets being inclined more or less to the plane of the Ecliptic, they do not all follow the same line in their courses around the sky, but in some parts of their orbits they appear a few degrees North, and in other parts a few degrees South of the Ecliptic.

But their orbits (with the exception of those of many of the asteroids) are all included within the belt of the Zodiac. The path of the moon also lies within that belt.

Now the Ecliptic (and with it the Zodiac) is inclined 23½ degrees to the plane of the celestial equator (which is situated directly over the equator of the earth).

The points of intersection correspond with what are known as the equinoxes. At the Vernal Equinox, where the sun crosses the equator coming North about March 20, the Ecliptic, and with it the Zodiac, begins to lie North of the equator.

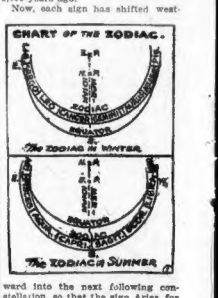
The part of the Zodiac that lies north of the equator is shown in the upper figure of our chart, in which "N. P." represents the North Pole of the heavens, and "E. P." the pole of the Ecliptic. The observer is supposed to be facing south, and the chart represents the position of the Zodiac in the sky as it appears at midnight at the Winter Solstice, December 22.

It is in the same position at 6 P. M., March 20; at 8 P. M., about the middle of February, and 10 P. M. at the middle of January.

The lower part of the chart represents the position of the Zodiac at midnight June 21; 10 P. M. middle of July, 8 P. M. middle of August. About 8 P. M. at the beginning of September, this year, you will find the planet Jupiter almost on the Ecliptic, directly in the south.

A word about the signs and the constellations of the Zodiac. The signs only are indicated on the chart. They no longer correspond in position with the constellations bearing their names, as they did about 2,000 years ago.

Now, each sign has shifted westward into the next following constellation, so that the sign Aries, for instance, is found in the constellation Pisces, and so on round the circle. Each sign is exactly 30 degrees in length, but the constellations vary in length, the space covered by each being determined by certain imaginary figures formed by the stars.



Twelve Signs

The series of the twelve signs begin at the Vernal Equinox, which marks the western termination of the sign Aries, and is called the First Point of Aries. In its annual course, the sun, beginning with the first point of Aries, March 20, travels eastward through the whole series, passing from the western to the eastern end of each sign in succession.

When it enters Aries the astronomical Spring opens, when it enters Cancer, the astronomical Summer; when it enters Libra, the astronomical Autumn, and when it enters Capricornus, the astronomical Winter. The changes in the north and south declinations of the sun do not affect its position on the central line of the Zodiac, for, as the chart shows, the Ecliptic must swing north and south together with the sun.

TO MAKE A PROFIT, DON'T HESITATE TO BORROW

Perhaps you have been too strong for the principle—of paying cash. Your fear of debt has kept you from making money.

If you can borrow and invest in something which you know to be a good business venture, why not do it?

If you can borrow at six per cent. and get ten per cent., why allow your scruples against debt to keep you from a perfectly sensible and legitimate form of business?

Few business men would be in mercantile business if they waited till they had cash to pay for everything.

It is no disgrace to incur indebtedness in the course of business transactions. If your judgment and experience tell you that a profit may be made within a reasonable period of time, go to it.

The man who says he "never owed a dollar" in his life is seldom found with an accumulation of money.
